

Miracles that follow the plow :: In sorrow I ask for your prayers

In sorrow I ask for your prayers - posted by dullrainbow (), on: 2006/4/9 19:02

In sorrow I ask for your prayers for my brother in law Dennis Hymes. He lies in an Ill. hospital with brain cancer. His time is very near the end. At one time he was on fire of God. Ask God to move in his heart and mind, by the Holy Spirit to lead him in full repentance. That he may leave this world as a powerful witness to the love of God for mankind. A witness against sin and the devil.

May God continue to richly bless this people and this internet site.

Eileen

Re: In sorrow I ask for your prayers - posted by ccchhrrriiss (), on: 2006/4/9 22:38

Hello Eileen...

I will be praying for your brother-in-law, as well as your entire family. May Dennis' be drawn back to the Lord wholeheartedly -- and may you and your family have perfect peace.

Re: In sorrow I ask for your prayers, on: 2006/4/9 23:02

I'm so sorry for your brother-in-law and your family Eileen.

I had a friend who had backslidden, but then he got a fatal diagnosis and in his last days on earth, he shined with the glory of the Lord.

He prayed for the people who came to see him and everyone who came, got blessed. It was an incredible thing to see a man with one foot on earth and another almost in Heaven. He died in peace surrounded by his singing family.

I pray the same for Dennis to go out in Glory. We'll believe that with you all.

Lord rest all of your souls In His Hand.
Annie

Re: - posted by dullrainbow (), on: 2006/4/12 10:49

Thank you Annie and Chris, my heart is warm with faith!
Eileen

Re: - posted by lastblast (), on: 2006/4/12 11:03

Lifting Dennis up to the Lord, Eileen. May he be filled with repentance, fire, and passion for the Lord once again. I pray that his end days will be filled with inner peace because he is fully restored to the Lord.....Love in Him, Cindy

Re: In sorrow I ask for your prayers UPDATE - posted by dullrainbow (), on: 2006/4/24 12:57

When the doctors went to do a biopsy they drilled right into that tumor...not good. The doctors then told the family to spend as much time as possible with him. This took place the same weekend I posted this prayer request. However and Praise God Dennis is responding to treatment rather nicely and is now home. We have been told this by my husband's sister, (not Dennis' wife) who is a nurse that he is going to be fine for now. I will know more next weekend as we plan to go to visit with them.
Eileen

Re: In sorrow I ask for your prayers - posted by Nellie, on: 2006/4/24 13:26

May our Lord Jesus Christ draw Dennis unto Himself, and restore him.

He is well able to do this.

I pray He will strengthen your whole Family.

God Bless you in this trying time.

May He be God of all comfort, to each of you.

In Jesus Name

Nellie