

General Topics :: Paul Washer Compilation

Paul Washer Compilation - posted by tacklebox (), on: 2006/7/10 22:14

If you've heard the searing sermon by Paul Washer that's been heralded as a Ravenhill-esque call to Biblical repentance and faith, check out this compilation:

<http://tackleboxministries.com/MP3/Know%20U%20R%20Saved.mp3>

NOTE: Some in the past have questioned the use of copyrighted music in compilations, so in order to stand blameless before God and man, and to avoid all appearances of evil, I used my own sequencing of Barber's Adagio for Strings as well as a cue I wrote and scored for a student film.

Re: Paul Washer Compilation - posted by TaylorOtwell (), on: 2006/7/11 0:20

Thanks for making this, this is a really powerful message

Re: Paul Washer Compilation - posted by Combat_Chuck (), on: 2006/7/11 0:37

Quote:

NOTE: Some in the past have questioned the use of copyrighted music in compilations, so in order to stand blameless before God and man, and to avoid all appearances of evil, I used my own sequencing of Barber's Adagio for Strings as well as a cue I wrote and scored for a student film.

I respect you very much for this.

(Not to hijack the thread, but as far as i'm concerned, using copyrighted music without permission is illegal and theft. This is why I get so dissapointed when somebody makes an awesome compilation and then ruins it by using stolen music within.)

I respect and thank you for this.

God bless,
Adam

Re: Paul Washer Compilation - posted by PaulWest (), on: 2006/7/11 3:54

Quote:

NOTE: Some in the past have questioned the use of copyrighted music in compilations, so in order to stand blameless before God and man, and to avoid all appearances of evil, I used my own sequencing of Barber's Adagio for Strings as well as a cue I wrote and scored for a student film.

Yes, bless you, brother, for doing it the right way. Clean hands and pure heart!

Re: - posted by tacklebox (), on: 2006/7/11 9:04

The copyright laws are very strict, mainly to ensure that the artists and recording companies will have the upper-hand in disputes, but we are called to live our lives blameless and obey the laws of the land so as not to give the lost reason to blaspheme.

I admit it is very hard to find copyright free music to do compilations, but we all might be surprised how many rising artists will allow you to use their music (and computers have allowed the quality of such music to be excellent.) If an artist gives you permission, then there is no lawbreaking. Perhaps offer to provide a link to their email or website wherever the compilation is posted online to entice them into letting you use their music.

Since I don't have much time to write anymore, I will probably have to use this method for a while. It takes time, but we really should make sure that we are being righteous when doing something for God.

:-)

Re: Paul Washer Compilation - posted by MSeaman (), on: 2006/7/11 15:54

It was excellent! Thank you for sharing.

Re: great job - posted by roadsign (), on: 2006/7/11 16:03

Good job!!!! And good selection of music too!

Quote:

----- I admit it is very hard to find copyright free music to do compilations,

Here's something to think about:

Just like the Bible, there is a lot of great music that can be reproduced freely.

Also, like good theological writings, some of the best music is not trendy and never was meant to be - but you have to look hard to find it (it's not popular).

One more thought:

When presenting a message about not following the world, doesn't it make sense to choose music that does not mimic the trends of the world?

Diane

Re: - posted by tacklebox (), on: 2006/7/16 9:25

I emailed a link to Mr. Washer. In his reply, he commented on how pleasantly surprised he is over how much the message has spread and how God is using it to move so many people. He asked that we pray for God to use him more and that he would remain humble. :-)

Glad to see that it's this month's featured sermon!

Re: - posted by tacklebox (), on: 2006/7/17 0:31

Some people have asked me how to contact Mr. Washer. I even accidentally deleted TEARSOFJOY's PM to me (sorry) instead of replying. Here's how to contact Mr. Washer:

<http://www.heartcrymissionary.com/modules.php?name=Feedback>

Re: - posted by DezCall (), on: 2006/7/19 16:16

Thank you brother!

The words I will never forget from this sermon are simple but striking. He utters them in response to the applause he gets from the congregation as he exposes the deception that praying a prayer will save and secure us for the rest of eternity. He gets a wonderful applause but reacts by saying:

"I don't know why you're clapping. I'm talking about you!"

Re: - posted by tacklebox (), on: 2006/7/22 15:41

I bet you could hear a pin drop after Mr. Washer said that. Mr. Washer knew Leonard Ravenhill, and it shows!

Have you guys ever heard the clip of Ravenhill rebuking two pastors who were telling jokes and laughing during one of Ravenhill's sermons? Ravenhill was like 80-something, but he lashes them for their lack of respect at the preaching of God's Word.

Here's that recording: <http://64.34.176.235/sermons/SID7444.mp3>