Has anyone else noticed that if you click on a thread, it adds 2 to the "views" counter? Maybe it is just my computer doing it, but test it for yourselves.

Click on one of the threads on the main page, and then either hit return or the large SI logo at the top. For me, it increments by 2 without fail...

Doesn't really matter all that much, just curious.

Hi K_DAY,

Well, happy to hear this wasn't a thread on comment and opinion ... :-)

But did give this a try and it only updated accurately, adding 1 to the total upon refreshing the page. It may be that someone else was viewing at the same time.

Haha. I guess the title was a little ambiguous...

Anyways, it must just be some setting on my computer or something. I keep trying, and it always does the same thing. In fact, there hasn't even been a single time where it has only incremented by 1, even if I go and hit back in less than a second. No worries though.
