Check out this song...it's only a sample. It's from Red Mountain Music from a CD called Help my Unbelief. They are hymns from a guy named William Gadsby from the 1800's.

I really like this one:

I think this is a tremendous project but I am abit saddened of their trying to make it "too" contemporary. We need more hymns to be brought back in their originality without rock music to drown out the spirit of them.

wow..you consider that rock music?
