

General Topics :: A picture says more then a thousand words

A picture says more then a thousand words - posted by hmmhmm (), on: 2007/6/10 12:05

Brother Kire directed my attention towards this picture....

i know there are rules about posting pictures, and if anything may be wrong or to the moderators dislike about this posting let me know and i will remove it

Christian

http://www.artunframed.com/images/new_art3/The_Christian_Martyrs_Last_Prayer.jpg

Re: A picture says more then a thousand words, on: 2007/6/10 13:29

Thank you for this post/picture hmmhmm.

You know ? I've seen that picture before but immediately upon looking at it this time, at the lion, I saw two pictures at once.

The one intended by the artist of course, but also saw 'The Lion' of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, coming for those at the end of these days and those who 'stand' strong enough to pray for others.

Praise God and thank you.

Re: - posted by hmmhmm (), on: 2007/6/10 13:35

i like the man standing , he is not looking at the lion, he is looking at Jesus

Re: - posted by theopenlife, on: 2007/6/10 14:33

The picture was a sober blessing. Thank you. I've been thinking lately about what it may be to endure such persecution, and ironically enough, nothing gives me strength to endure like considering the victorious suffering of both the Savior and the martyrs.

Re: - posted by HomeFree89 (), on: 2007/6/10 20:22

Thanks Hmmhmm,

That was a very inspiring picture. May we all stand for Jesus like those of old!

Jordan