

General Topics :: Entertainment

Entertainment, on: 2007/7/29 15:40

I have been wanting to learn more on this subject.

Entertainment in general, do the negatives exceed the positives? Your thoughts and comments or anything else please.

Re: Entertainment - posted by hulseys (), on: 2007/7/29 15:47

A.W.Tozer has some pretty good insights into this subject. hope this helps.

The Great God Entertainment

by A.W.Tozer

A German philosopher many years ago said something to the effect that the more a man has in his own heart, the less he will require from the outside; excessive need for support from without is proof of the bankruptcy of the inner man.

If this is true (and I believe it is) then the present inordinate attachment to every form of entertainment is evidence that the inner life of modern man is in serious decline. The average man has no central core of moral assurance, no spring within his own breast, no inner strength to place him above the need for repeated psychological shots to give him the courage to go on living. He has become a parasite on the world, drawing his life from his environment, unable to live a day apart from the stimulation which society affords him.

Schleiermacher held that the feeling of dependence lies at the root of all religious worship, and that however high the spiritual life might rise, it must always begin with a deep sense of a great need which only God could satisfy.

If this sense of need and a feeling of dependence are at the root of natural religion, it is not hard to see why the great god Entertainment is so ardently worshiped by so many. For there are millions who cannot live without amusement; life without some form of entertainment for them is simply intolerable; they look forward to the blessed relief afforded by professional entertainers and other forms of psychological narcotics as a dope addict looks to his daily shot of heroin. Without them they could not summon courage to face existence.

No one with common human feeling will object to the simple pleasures of life, nor to such harmless forms of entertainment as may help to relax the nerves and refresh the mind exhausted by toil. Such things, if used with discretion, may be a blessing along the way. That is one thing, however, the all-out devotion to entertainment as a major activity for which and by which men live is definitely something else again.

The abuse of a harmless thing is the essence of sin. The growth of the amusement phase of human life to such fantastic proportions is a portent, a threat to the souls of modern men. It has been built into a multimillion dollar racket with greater power over human minds and human character than any other educational influence on earth.

And the ominous thing is that its power is almost exclusively evil, rotting the inner life, crowding out the long eternal thoughts which would fill the souls of men, if they were but worthy to entertain them. The whole thing has grown into a veritable religion which holds its devotees with a strange fascination; and a religion, incidentally, against which it is now dangerous to speak. For centuries the Church stood solidly against every form of worldly entertainment, recognizing it for what it was—a device for wasting time, a refuge from the disturbing voice of conscience, a scheme to divert attention from moral accountability.

For this she got herself abused roundly by the sons of this world. But of late she has become tired of the abuse and has given over the struggle. She appears to have decided that if she cannot conquer the great god Entertainment she may as well join forces with him and make what use she can of his powers. So, today we have the astonishing spectacle of millions of dollars being poured into the unholy job of providing earthly entertainment for the so-called sons of heaven. Religious entertainment is in many places rapidly crowding out the serious things of God.

Many churches these days have become little more than poor theaters where fifth-rate "producers" peddle their shoddy wares with the full approval of evangelical leaders who can even quote a holy text in defense of their delinquency. And hardly a man dares raise his voice against it.

The great god Entertainment amuses his devotees mainly by telling them stories. The love of stories, which is a characteristic of childhood, has taken fast hold of the minds of the retarded saints of our day, so much so that not a few persons manage to make a comfortable living by spinning yarns and serving them up in various disguises to church people.

What is natural and beautiful in a child may be shocking when it persists into adulthood, and more so when it appears in the sanctuary and seeks to pass for true religion. Is it not a strange thing and a wonder that, with the shadow of atomic destruction hanging over the world and with the coming of Christ drawing near, the professed followers of the Lord should be giving themselves up to religious amusements? That in an hour when mature saints are so desperately needed vast numbers of believers should revert to spiritual childhood and clamor for religious toys?

"Remember, O Lord, what is come upon us: consider, and behold our reproach. The crown is fallen from our head: woe unto us, that we have sinned ! For this our heart is faint; for these things our eyes are dim." AMEN. AMEN.

Taken from Root of the Righteous, Harrisburg, PA: Christian Publications, 1955, p. 32-33.

Re: - posted by Tears_of_joy, on: 2007/7/29 15:50

Quote:

-----A.W.Tozer has some pretty good insights into this subject. hope this helps.
-----

Here is a good place to start: (https://www.sermonindex.net/modules/newbb/viewtopic.php?topic\_id2825&forum34) AWT on Entertainment

Re: Entertainment - posted by Nile (), on: 2007/7/29 15:54

This is a good thing to learn more about!

Here are some scriptures with questions to ask when considering entertainment:

1 Corinthians 10:31

Therefore, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God.

Is this entertainment for the glory of God?

2 Corinthians 5:9

Therefore we make it our aim, whether present or absent, to be well pleasing to Him.

Is my aim to please God with this entertainment?

Romans 14:23b

For whatsoever is not of faith is sin.

Do I have faith that what I am doing is right and pleasing to God?

1 John 2:15

Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world.

Is this entertainment helping me to love the world or to love God?

Ephesians 5:1

Therefore be imitators of God as dear children.

Can I imagine Jesus pursuing this entertainment?

I used to be enslaved to entertainment, but Christ set me free. Now entertainment has it's proper place in my life: it is a time of relaxing and worshiping God through His word and His creation.

:-)

Nile

Re: - posted by sojourner7 (), on: 2007/7/29 16:04

Why is there a need to be entertained??
Shouldn't the desire of our hearts be to please God and our aim to glorify Him by the things we say and in all we DO??

Re: - posted by HomeFree89 (), on: 2007/7/29 19:40

Great post Nile!

Also, I would add, "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." Eph. 5:11

Jordan

Re: - posted by HomeFree89 (), on: 2007/7/29 19:42

Tozer also has a book out and it's called, "Tozer on Worship and Entertainment." It's is well worth the read, trust me. ;-)

Jordan

Re: - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2007/7/29 19:53

Excellent article, Hulsey!

Quote:
-----Many churches these days have become little more than poor theaters where fifth-rate "producers" peddle their shoddy wares with the full approval of evangelical leaders who can even quote a holy text in defense of their delinquency. And hardly a man dares raise his voice against it.
-----

I have visited a worship service where this was done and was utterly shocked the pastor felt a need to use such shoddy entertainment to reach his listeners!

In my area it is the large, multi-million dollar churches who will put on excellent programs at Christmas and Easter times. They are beautiful and well done with excellent music. Among these churches is one who accepts practicing homos which presents a conflict for me: do I want to go there and allow these unrepentant sinners to 'entertain' me, using the Bible to do so? (I refuse to go there anymore.) Actually, this is the question I must consider: How right is it to use Holy things to entertain? On the other hand the worship program David instituted in the OT temple was glorious, I am sure. So another question: how can one differentiate between pure religious entertainment and absolute worship? (I know of unrepentant sinners being hired by churches to sing on their worship teams..sigh) IMHO, what passes for modern worship is anything but that.

Brother, this article will provoke more questions....hope to hear some discussions on the questions I asked...

ginnyrose

Re: - posted by hulsey (), on: 2007/7/29 20:50

Quote:
-----Excellent article, Hulsey!
-----

Yes it is, and even prophetic when you think that this article was written in the 1950's.

Re:, on: 2007/7/29 21:58

Quote:

-----
hulsey wrote:

Yes it is, and even prophetic when you think that this article was written in the 1950's.
-----

This caught my notice also. It is way ahead of it's time. The entertainment of those days is hardly comparable to the movies, TV programs, internet, video games ect. that seem to dominate many present homes and are far more easily accessed.

Even movies these days that are so-called clean ones are like seagulls. Watching seagulls fly overhead is enjoyable but you end up getting dunged on by the end of the experience. Doing away with worldly entertainment is like spiritual miracle-grow.

I am enjoying these comments and I believe I will have learned what I wanted to learn by the end of this.

Re: - posted by hulsey (), on: 2007/7/29 22:11

The link Kire (tears of joy) provided is excellent also and much more extensive.

Re: Entertainment - posted by HopePurifies (), on: 2007/7/29 22:58

I've found the dictionary definition of entertainment to be edifying.

Merriam-Webster Online:

1 : the act of entertaining

2 a archaic : MAINTENANCE, PROVISION b obsolete : EMPLOYMENT

3 a : amusement or diversion provided especially by performers b : something diverting or engaging: as (1) : a public performance (2) : a usually light comic or adventure novel

Dictionary.com:

1. the act of entertaining; agreeable occupation for the mind; diversion; amusement: Solving the daily crossword puzzle is an entertainment for many.

2. something affording pleasure, diversion, or amusement, esp. a performance of some kind: The highlight of the ball was an elaborate entertainment.

3. hospitable provision for the needs and wants of guests.

4. a divertingly adventurous, comic, or picaresque novel.

WordNet

an activity that is diverting and that holds the attention

See, I don't know about you, but I see a lot of dangerous things just looking at the nature and purpose of entertainment. Diversion... holding our attention... pleasing (the flesh)....

I think that we can do BETTER than entertainment... I don't mean to sound like one of those ear-scratchers (for itching ears... you know) bragging that Christians basically one-up the world in everything. But we can engage our minds on godly things and the things above, we can peacefully meditate on the scriptures, we can sing praises to our God, we can fellowship and bless other believers, we can pray, we can do God's work... it is just a better life and there's no getting around it. Sitting and watching the TV or movies just isn't as cool.

With a life as short as ours, and being bought with the precious blood of Christ... do we dare waste our time getting caught up in such drivel?

Re: - posted by BrokenOne (), on: 2007/7/29 23:01

This is something that blessed me very much when I first saw it posted. I thought it might fit well here.

Spurgeon, "The Love of God and the Patience of Christ"

If you receive the love of God fully into your souls it will nourish the contemplative life.

You will want to be alone.

You will prefer to sit silently at Jesus' feet while others wrangle over the little politics of the day. You will give up being busy bodies, talking in six peoples' houses in an hour.

Quietude will charm you.

You will love no company so much as the society of Him who is the Best and the Most.

To be with God in quiet will be your highest enjoyment. You will not say, as some do, "I must have recreation."

Contemplation of God is recreation to the child of God.

It creates the soul anew. And is not this the truest recreation?

Love to God will nourish the contemplative life and so make us come forth as new creatures, fresh from our Maker's holy hand.

Re: - posted by BrokenOne (), on: 2007/7/29 23:10

Quote:
-----With a life as short as ours, and being bought with the precious blood of Christ... do we dare waste our time getting caught up in such drivel?
-----

I guess that depends on if we really believe that we will have to give account of our stewardship of this life. I was just reading this verse tonight:

For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that each one may receive the things done in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad. 2 Corinthians 5:10

That should make us reconsider indulging in the things the world has to offer as entertainment.

Danielle

Re: - posted by sojourner7 (), on: 2007/7/29 23:21

Diversion. One of the devil's favorite tools. Our focus as believers and followers of Christ should be what will best glorify and serve my Lord and Master's purpose?? We don't need any further diversion's lets be devoted and disciplined!~! :-P

Re:, on: 2007/7/30 0:11

Quote:

-----
(tears of joy) provided is excellent also and much more extensive.
-----

I thought it was just a single post, but it goes on and on, I grabbed the whole thing in acrobat.

(https://www.sermonindex.net/modules/newbb/viewtopic\_pdf.php?topic\_id2825&forum34) AWT: entertainment right on...!

Re:, on: 2007/7/30 0:17

Quote:

-----
sojourner7 wrote:
Diversion. One of the devil's favorite tools. Our focus as believers and followers of Christ should be what will best glorify and serve my Lord and Master's purpose?? We don't need any further diversion's lets be devoted and disciplined!~! :-P
-----

I agree, but this is not diversion, this is simply other Brothers and Sister's giving biblical insight and thought to use of entertainment. The moderators are usually good at taking care of dividing posts. be blessed.

Re:, on: 2007/7/30 7:47

People today act like they cant live without TV, movies or music. All these things can be used to the glory of God... but usually they are not.

Whats interesting is that 100 years ago none of these things existed. Well, music did, but you actually had to create it yourself.

What did people do when the day was done? The family gathered together and read books, and often times that book was the Bible.

Society was not perfect and godly back then, but it was a far cry from what we have today!

I have a brother-in-law who is a "tech-head", as I call him. He has to have the latest of everything. He has to have an i-p hone, has to have a gigantic projection TV, a playstation 3, the latest black-berry, etc etc.

I admit... there is nothing like watching a football game on his gigantic TV... it's pretty cool... but I dont think I could ever buy one of things and be able to maintain my relationship with Christ. I dont think I could ever justify it. And my brother-in -law claims to be a believer. I dont judge his relationship with God, I'm just saying... I couldnt do it. He thinks my wife and I are a bit extreme with our faith. I think he's a bit extreme with his need to be entertained 24/7.

He and his wife need to have some kids... that will change things. lol

Krispy

Re: - posted by HopePurifies (), on: 2007/7/30 12:10

Quote:

ce4 wrote:

Quote:

sojourner7 wrote:

Diversion. One of the devil's favorite tools. Our focus as believers and followers of Christ should be what will best glorify and serve my Lord and Master's purpose?? We don't need any further diversion's lets be devoted and disciplined!~! :-P

I agree, but this is not diversion, this is simply other Brothers and Sister's giving biblical insight and thought to use of entertainment. The moderators are usually good at taking care of dividing posts. be blessed.

He was talking about entertainment. Entertainment = diversion. Referring to the dictionary definition given. Not to the posts. ^_^

Re:, on: 2007/7/30 15:38

Quote:

HopePurifies wrote:

He was talking about entertainment. Entertainment = diversion. Referring to the dictionary definition given. Not to the posts. ^_^

Oh I get it now, I thought I was missing something. There is much to learn on this, I am seeing.

Re: - posted by heartablaze (), on: 2007/7/30 18:38

Quote:

BrokenOne wrote:

This is something that blessed me very much when I first saw it posted. I thought it might fit well here.

Spurgeon, "The Love of God and the Patience of Christ"

If you receive the love of God fully into your souls it will nourish the contemplative life.

You will want to be alone.

You will prefer to sit silently at Jesus' feet while others wrangle over the little politics of the day. You will give up being busy bodies, talking in six peoples' houses in an hour.

Quietude will charm you.

You will love no company so much as the society of Him who is the Best and the Most.

To be with God in quiet will be your highest enjoyment. You will not say, as some do, "I must have recreation."

Contemplation of God is recreation to the child of God.

It creates the soul anew. And is not this the truest recreation?

Love to God will nourish the contemplative life and so make us come forth as new creatures, fresh from our Maker's holy hand.

-----

I agree with this; however, there is another layer to receiving the love of God fully into our souls: loving others.

1 John 4:

7Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God.

8He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love.

9In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.

10Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

11Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

Visiting other people and giving them attention is not always being a busybody. After all, God did not solely give us his love to keep all of this to ourselves. Jesus himself went out of his way to show love to people when he was on earth. Yes, he spent time contemplating and resting away from the world, but then he went back out into the world to serve more. Serving others is very important.

Forgive me if I overreacted to this, brother.

Re: - posted by BrokenOne (), on: 2007/7/30 20:25

Quote:

-----I agree with this; however, there is another layer to receiving the love of God fully into our souls: loving others.

-----

Quote:

-----Serving others is very important.

-----

I agree with this. However, the topic of this thread was entertainment and that's why I posted what I did. The point being we have Jesus so what need do we have for entertainment. I agree that we shouldn't become hermits and isolate ourselves from the very people who need to know our Jesus.

By the way, I'm a sister. :-)

Blessings,
Danielle