Just curious if anybody is going to be tuning to a CNN special that's been heavily advertised. 3 nights, 3 religions. I wonder how they will portray Christianity tonight.

I just finished watching this.

I believe God presented His message tonight through an unknowing bystander...

This episode started with the demonstration of legalism that seeks to conform the world to obedience to the law of God. But about in the middle of the documentary it shifted to a relationship that overcomes the works of Satan. I started to cry as the young woman in the end shared the glory of Christ with this lost and dying world...

God your sea is endless...

In Christ
