

Scriptures and Doctrine :: Spiritual gift "service"

Spiritual gift "service", on: 2007/8/28 5:01

Quickly spots a practical need and feels compelled to meet that need in a swift and meticulous manner!
Derives joy and a sense of purpose in serving others beyond the expected!
Tends to sacrifice his own need(even personal health)to serve others.
Having a difficult time saying "no" to request for help!
Enjoys manual projects that combine attention to detail with remarkable memory!
Need communication of specific instructions before service is rendered and appreciation after the fact!
Loves being around people!
Prefers working on immediate goals rather than long-range goals!
Feels inadequate as a leader but readily supports those who are in leadership!
Operates at a high energy level!

Re: Spiritual gift "service" - posted by sojourner7 (), on: 2007/8/28 10:30

Oh, how we need more people who are able,
eager, and willing to serve in the Church
today!! 8-)

Re:, on: 2007/8/29 10:05

Quote:

sojourner7 wrote:

Oh, how we need more people who are able,
eager, and willing to serve in the Church
today!! 8-)

Do you think that is one of the reasons the church is not having an great of impact or are not experiencing revival, because the church members are under the false impression that's everything is preacher's job, including most deacons?