Saints,

Here are some precious hymns that Jeff Woolridge sent me to add to the site. May you be blessed hearing them.

I Sought the Lord

It's wonderful to see some more hymns from Jeff.

Precious Hands

That one has become a favorite of mine. The words are written by Roy Daniel (son of Keith D.) and Roy brought that song to America a couple years ago and we recorded him singing it so that we could also learn the tune and words. And now Jeff has sang and recorded it!

Like a child in the hands of it's Father,
I'm safe in the hands of my Lord!
Through the storms and trials I may pass through,
I can stand on the rock of His Word!

Chorus:

*Precious hands, precious love of my Jesus!
Same hands that were pierced for my sins!
They're the hands that will hold me and keep me,
As I live for my Saviour and King!*

When I think of the way that He suffered,
On calvaries cruel tree long ago,
Of the blood that was shed to save me,
Of the love never ceasing to glow!

Chorus:

*Precious hands, precious love of my Jesus!
Same hands that were pierced for my sins!
They're the hands that will hold me and keep me,*

As I live for my Saviour and King!

When we look at His hands that were pierced there,
How worthless our hands seem to be!
How little that they have been folden,
In fervent prayer to the King!

Chorus:

*Precious hands, precious love of my Jesus!
Same hands that were pierced for my sins!
They're the hands that will hold me and keep me,
As I live for my Saviour and King!*

In one of AW Tozers books he talked about hymns written in the last 100 years that have more "I" in them. He said the hymns 100 years ago or later were more GOD centered.
I have noticed the same thing.

Yes, wonderful, thank you.
