That's great that you are able to witness to her through this. Here's a book I recommend that I hear is very good if she is open to reading it. I would like to read it myself sometime. My mother had died of cancer and it was a very hard time in my life so I am very sensitive to those who have cancer.

Here's the other book I was looking for. This one would probably be even better.

Just an update to this request for this friend.

Many thanks to those who had been led to pray as this week coming this friend has to go through another cancer test apparently and it seems she is more stressed and afraid, and I had been informed by another friend of hers that she is going through level 4 cancer rate; I don't know how these things work but all I know the power of God are far greater than anything and through the power of prayer of the believer miracle will take place for those who love the Lord God Almighty.

"Note: She is born-again, accepted and fully believes that she is washed and cleansed by the Blood of Jesus Christ. Openly proclaimed it to me and the other person at present on Friday night."

As a member here I am desperately asking for someone to unite with me in prayer for her; she has a 2 years old son whom was in her womb at the time she found out that she has breast cancer.

Many thanks and God bless,
Claudette
