

Articles and Sermons :: Interesting Posts...or maybe not

Interesting Posts...or maybe not - posted by Pramuka26 (), on: 2009/5/13 11:54

I have been visiting this site regularly for several years now - and have always been inspired, refreshed, and educated. However, within the past several months particularly I have been noticing the posts becoming more and more "ridiculous" (with all due respect). There are several who always manage to turn the threads back to the TRUTH, but where some of the threads meander is just wierd, to say the least. These are hard times - politically, personally, financially, and spirit ually for many - but God is still on His throne. Almighty God - the beginning and end, alpha and omega, the culmination of all history as we know it and beyond - will not leave us nor forsake us. That's all I need to know.....