

SermonIndex Announcements :: Old Paths Magazine (help needed)!

Old Paths Magazine (help needed)! - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2010/1/22 21:33

Saints,

I am God willing redeveloping the Old Paths and want to assemble a team of people to help work on the issues to see them released faster. If you have skills in writing (editing), proofreading, desktop publishing (design), translators (for different languages), and other skills do write a reply to this thread or email me at: sermonindex@gmail.com

I believe there are enough saints here that would have a burden to make this happen and see this magazine become a "permanent" blessing to the body of Christ world-wide!

Hey Greg,

I have a degree in writing and have worked as a copy editor, editorial assistant etc, and done graphics work (cover etc.) as well as handled the layout for a literary journal. I am very busy at this point, but would love to help however I can.

I would like to submit my name for prayerful consideration. I could help in writing, editing, or proofreading. Let me know at your convenience Greg.

I would love both of you involved. I want to assemble a whole team of people who can take active leadership in the magazine and those that can "help" as they can.

It would be great for a few people who have alot of time and energy to head this up to get involved. I believe if a whole team assembles this magazine can be taken to the next level as a great resource for the body of Christ.

Amen. I'm excited!! Is there a timeline or gameplan on how you want to go about this?

I will need to get alot more volunteers and those that want more responsibility before going forward with anything.

The Lord has given me gifts, and I am willing to help, but I am not sure which gifts apply here . . .

Greg

My experience is limited to editing a company newsletter, but I am willing and possibly able to help with editing, formatting and design.

Tremendous brother, the more people who have basic knowledge of things will help. I am still waiting on God for a few people who really are "experts" with publishing and want to head this project up!
