When I was apart of the latest Evangelism Boot Camp that was in Dallas, I actually tried not to preach that much because I wanted to watch and listen other preachers. It is not often that I am able to see and listen to so many open-air preachers. Here are some great pictures of some of them

More Images from this event...

There were so many pictures taken during this event and I wish I could post them all, but I can't (although I'll add many many of them to the photo section on my site). I hope these pictures will be the encouragement to you that they have been to me.

Wow. I wish I had the guts...

Was this recently? Looks like the sun was hot. I did USAF basic near San Antonio, so I know TX is good training ground.

Great pix!

These pictures are only about a week old. Brother you don't need the guts, you just need God. I am proof that anybody can do it.
