Islamists, in particular the anti-Western Muslim Brotherhood, seem poised to take power throughout the Middle East as a result of riots that have already toppled one Arab regime and are threatening others, in what some are calling only the latest wave of an Islamic "tsunami" sweeping the globe.

In Egypt, members of President Hosni Mubarak's family reportedly have fled the country as a flood of violent, fatal street protests threatens the stability of this most populous Arab nation, a longtime U.S. ally and the only Muslim nation with a long-lasting peace agreement with Israel.

The White House has been championing the protests, calling for a transition to democratic rule in Egypt, where the Muslim Brotherhood formed the main opposition to Mubarak. ...

Muslim brotherhood will take advantage of the political vacuum.

Pray for the Christian communities in Egypt as more persecution is coming. Pray that they have boldness and love. Look s like Jordan is next..

Hi Greg,

Thanks for posting this indeed! What the prince and power of the air is portraying here in the US is very different from what is going on in reality.

Here's a link to an article in the Jerusalem Post that presents what is really going on in a good context:

If one listens to what Jordan and the Saudi's are saying you can understand in the broader context that they recognize that they are next. If so, Israel will be completely surrounded by Islamists.

I pray for The Peace, and peace come to Jerusalem!

In Christ,

Al-Qaida is on the verge of producing radioactive weapons after sourcing nuclear material and recruiting rogue scientists to build "dirty" bombs, according to leaked diplomatic documents.

A leading atomic regulator has privately warned that the world stands on the brink of a "nuclear 9/11"...

...The alarming disclosures come after Barack Obama, the U.S. president, last year declared nuclear terrorism "the single biggest threat" to international security with the potential to cause "extraordinary loss of life".

The word of the Lord to me for some time now has been: violent days are ahead.

Re: , on: 2011/2/5 9:39

Well America has had violent days in her past. However it is possible that we can stem the influence of Islam in America through pray and revival. America could remain somewhat of a safe haven in the world even through the tribulation.

In David Dolans book "End of Days" he kinda paints this picture. I would like to maintain hope that this could be for America. I also acknowledge that we need another great awakening to turn America back from her sins.

I have been worried about the threat of the Muslim Nations around Israel, We have not realized that the threat is right underneath our noses!

As if they can topple Governments in Saudi, Tunisia and Egypt and others, what of London or America

As the Muslims conquered Istanbul and even got to Spain!

I pray for Israel as it is the apple of Gods eye and the mass slaughtering of Christians in these Muslim countries, that also need Gods prayer
