Brothers and Sisters,

As you have probably noticed there is a colored bar at the top of every page, this is a new script called: HelloBar www.hellobar.com We are beta testing this, not use it all the time but to use it for special announcements or a "live" webcast of an event. we will probably keep it up for a day or so at this point.

I think it is quite effective for a live event or some very special announcements. Would love to get your feedback. God bless.

Do try and click on the link if you haven't heard that featured message yet.

Is there any feedback on this? I think it is working pretty well and we might use it in the future for webcasts etc.

I like it. Praise God!

Hi Greg,

I don't see it. I thought that it might be due to Google Chrome browser that I use, so I opened FireFox (both versions 3.6 x and the new version 4) and Internet Explorer (version 8). I even cleared the browsers' caches, but I still don't see it.

Are you still trying it out...or does it just not appear on my PC?
