

General Topics :: marriage,divorce and remarriage

marriage,divorce and remarriage - posted by Enochh (), on: 2011/7/1 20:51

post removed to avoid division

Re: marriage,divorce and remarriage - posted by cryinthenite, on: 2011/7/1 22:55

I believe the Lord is already leading you down the right path my friend.

You probably know all the "right" scriptures to give one whatever they want to hear.

I just want to throw out some thoughts in love if I may.

Where does it say marriage is a right?

Where does it say a GOOD marriage is a promise?

The Lord NEVER SAID those things.

Read Heb.chapter 12

Re: , on: 2011/7/2 7:38

A GOOD marriage was never promised to Hosea when God commanded him to marry Gomer... that marriage was nothing but misery for Hosea, and he was one of God's prophets.

A "bad" marriage can often times be the exact tool that God uses to make a person more conformed to Jesus, and after all... isn't that what everything is about when you walk with God? Having Him conform you more and more into the image of His Son? That rarely ever happens with health and wealth and happiness... that's usually a curse to us. No, God uses pain and suffering and hardship to chisel away at His children.

Krispy

Re: - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2011/7/2 8:22

Quote:

-----A "bad" marriage can often times be the exact tool that God uses to make a person more conformed to Jesus, and after all... isn't that what everything is about when you walk with God? Having Him conform you more and more into the image of His Son? That rarely ever happens with health and wealth and happiness... that's usually a curse to us. No, God uses pain and suffering and hardship to chisel away at His children.

This is so true. I am seeing this happen to a close relative of mine right now. It is so dreadfully painful. Yes, the chiseling cuts, the pieces fly and you bleed.

Excellent post, Krispy.

Enochh needs the prayers of the saints on this board...