Can any one tell me how to use the quote function. I use Safari. Many thanks.

Re: Quoting from posts, on: 2012/4/21 18:33

Hi Brother. The only way I know to, is to type in the code before and after the part that you copy and paste into your reply that you want to quote.

Code ...

 copy and paste

I put a space in there, but there's no spaces in the codes.

I'm not the techiest person on the planet - so maybe someone else has a better way.

Blessings!

That's the same way I do it too.

That was perfect, Ann. :-)

Thank you! I also did not know how to do that. Pressing "Quote" doesn't work.

sorry im a newb practicing how to quote

Re: - posted by David01-72 (), on: 2012/4/24 23:25

sorry again

Re: - posted by David01-72 (), on: 2012/4/24 23:39

i cant do it

Re: , on: 2012/4/25 0:01

Sure you can - Just copy and paste this whole sentence, but just backspace the spaces after the "e"s in the two "quote" words that are in brackets at the beginning and end of this sentence.

Re: - posted by onemite, on: 2012/4/25 0:03

David, I dont use the quote button. Im not sure what that's for.

Re: - posted by David01-72 (), on: 2012/4/25 0:04

im doing something wrong, so you click on the quote button then paste the sentence you want to quote?

if this works, the problem was the bracket after the first word 'quote' had a space after the e. and also the last 'quote.

i have one more question, can you multi quote in one reply?

Re: - posted by TrueWitness, on: 2012/4/25 0:21

So does anyone know WHY the quote button doesn't work? Is it something that can be fixed?

Re: - posted by onemite, on: 2012/4/25 0:22

Do you mean make more than one quote? I have not done it, but I don't see why not. Just repeat the steps in your text for whatever quotes you have?

BIG SITE. Needed to take down some of the features to make room for more important stuff. That's about as "techie" of an answer that I can give. :)

David, sure, you can just put the same code in for each sentence or section that you want to quote.

Many Blessings.

Edited to add: Oh, I see, you've done it! Voondabar!

With all that, it seems simpler to me to just type out the word QUOTE: like i did above, then copy and paste. Faster for me.

Sorry that I reported mail by means of quote of the previous poster but I want this gladly know how I can post a response without quote of a previous poster (excuse if my English is not spotless... I'm   Dutch).

Re: - posted by kroontje, on: 2012/5/3 13:19

...o well, I think it's now okey, yeah?
