Although the sinless life of Jesus Christ is a foundational tenet of the Christian faith, a study recently released by the Diocese of Camden found that 60 percent of practicing Catholics in southern New Jersey believe Jesus sinned during his time on Earth.

"The number of Catholics who have a very flawed, a seriously flawed, understanding of who Jesus is, that's troublesome," Bishop Joseph Galante of the Diocese of Camden said during a press conference, USA Today reports. "We've got to refocus on how we teach and inform people. Jesus is the foundation of who we are as Catholics." ...

I read this on Fox news today. It seems really amazing and shocking that anyone could actually believe that Jesus sinned. Apart from anything else the Scriptures clearly teaches the opposite. I ask how long it will really take for this 'evaluation' to complete? RC has had 1600 years to get it worked out. Reliance on a priest just makes no sense when the reality is ignorance.
