

Miracles that follow the plow :: prayer for my mom and dad prayer for my mom and dad, on: 2012/7/5 7:26

my mom recently went to the doctor and was told her blood pressure was extremely high and they gave her medicine to help. She took it for a few days and it went down. My mom has a very bad drinking problem and she started to slow down after this incident, but then began to drink strongly again almost more than before. one problem is my dad, he really doesn't seem to care too much, he was trying to get her to go the bar the day before she was going back to the doctor to see if everything was okay. He seems to just encourage her drinking. It is very frustrating that shes in so much bondage to this and now possibly worse. Please pray for this situation and for my dad and moms eyes to be opened.

Praying that their eyes are opened to experience god. We all know how difficult it was for us before we came to Him. I am sure, god will not let your prayers unanswered. I wish a man of god is sent there to speak to them, to show them light.

And you child of god, continue to pray. joining you in prayers now...
