This was interesting. Even though I praise God about the testimony of Martin Lloyd-Jones, I get the impression that the speaker has not known it yet and the knowledge thereof poses a foundational paradigm shift. I praise God that this understanding will be shared not only with his fellowship but his supporters as well.

You mean John Piper.

Yes indeed, but it is a good step nonetheless.

I do praise God that he along with Paul Washer and other main stream conservatives are finally coming out boldly and not afraid to speak of that power that was behind those whom they so much admire like George Whitefield and others.
