

General Topics :: Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany

Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany - posted by Gonzalo, on: 2012/10/16 17:51

Hello everyone ...

My wife and I are searching for people in Germany and Europe to fellowship with. But we're tired of churches which have lost the fear of God and are mingling with the world. Please, where are the 7000 in Europe who didn't bow their knees to Baal? We'd really love to fellowship with them...we feel a bit alone here...

Are there any people from Europe/Germany here who actually want to live by Jesus' commandments and follow him radically?

Please respond, if you're one of them...

Europe needs an awakening...more than any other place in the world...

David

Re: Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany - posted by Gonzalo, on: 2012/10/17 2:31

Not a single one?

Re: Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany, on: 2012/10/17 3:19

Quote:

-----My wife and I are searching for people in Germany and Europe to fellowship with. But we're tired of churches which have lost the fear of God and are mingling with the world. Please, where are the 7000 in Europe who didn't bow their knees to Baal? We'd really love to fellowship with them...we feel a bit alone here...

Are there any people from Europe/Germany here who actually want to live by Jesus' commandments and follow him radically?

Please respond, if you're one of them...

Europe needs an awakening...more than any other place in the world. Gonzalo.

Hello Brother

Europe is a large place. I know of sound fellowships in Europe, especially in Italy. I can put you in touch with pastors in Italy on the northern boarder who regularly hold missions across into Germany, France, Switzerland etc. If these contacts will be of use to you send me your e-mail address and I will pass your information on.

Europe is the land of ancient warfare of sorcery and witchcraft of Idolatry and sophistication it will not change. The darkest things in all the earth can be found in Europe. Many saints believe that North America is dark. Yet to those I have known who have visited North America it is a light compared to central Europe. Even England is become again a nation of witchcraft. The churches are being done to death and the saints are lending their hands to it without comprehension. The Lord Knows. Just as He knows who have not bent their knee to another lord who is no lord at all. There is hope, but it is in Christ not in men. The Lord Bless You.

Re: Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany - posted by Josef83, on: 2012/10/17 5:52

No idea about Germany.
But Kristuskirkken in Denmark usally arranges a summer conference every year.
Paul Washer has been speaking there and Voodie Bauchaum.
And I know there are many german coming to that conference
You could contact hem and ask.

<http://www.kristuskirken.com/blog/wordpress/>

Re: Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany - posted by narrowpath, on: 2012/10/17 7:13

I am German but live in the UK. We are considering to move back to norhtern Germany early next year.

Re: - posted by Gonzalo, on: 2012/10/17 15:28

Hallo narrowpath!

Wir sind auch relativ aus dem Norden (obwohl nicht ganz). Woher kommst Du/Ihr? Wir sind aus Minden in Westfalen (etwa 40 km von Bielefeld, 60km von Hannover, 100km von Bremen)...Wo stehst Du/steht Ihr geistlich? Was habt Ihr vor im Herrn? Habt Ihr eine Hausgemeinde oder besucht Ihr eine grÄ¼Äere Gemeinde?
WÄ¼rde mich freuen, wenn sich eventuell ein guter Kontakt entwickeln wÄ¼rde... meine Email: david.gonzalez.lopez.1986@gmail.com

GrÄ¼Äe im HERRN

Re: - posted by Gonzalo, on: 2012/10/17 15:39

@ amrkelly:

It sadly is true what you say about Europe. Its a dark place indeed...Sadly I believe its becoming even worse. Churches which have light are growing darker...and so the whole spiritual situation is growing darker in Europe. I was really hit by what you wrote concerning Europe and darkness, because this was exactly what I felt the Lord was showing me about Europe during the last couple of months: Its getting darker and darker and even those churches who have truth (of which there are some) are more and more drifting away from God and into the world...BUT: I also believe that God told me that there are more and more "little lights" (which are all small groups of people who hold on to the truth of God and hold fast to his commandments)which are arising in the midst of the increasing spiritual darkness... So I have hope...and God constantly shows me, that there are these 7000 who didn't bow their knees to Baal in Europe...his remnant...either they already exist, or they will arise soon...

Please send me your contacts! But please tell me, what kind of fellowship are you talking about? Housechurches? "Bigger" congregations? Reformed? Anabaptist?

Greetings in the Lord

Re: - posted by murrcolr (), on: 2012/10/17 15:59

Quote: Europe is the land of ancient warfare of sorcery and witchcraft of Idolatry and sophistication it will not change.

I totally disagree that Europe will not change.

The biggest and most powerful Move of God to hit this earth is going to start in Europe....

Re: - posted by Gonzalo, on: 2012/10/17 16:06

How come you believe that murrcoir...

I sense that there is a lot of false fire arising in Europe...Much activism of churches...but thats not revival. Revival is when people are truly filled by the Spirit of God and out of that infilling hold Jesus` commandments...I cannot see that in any significant measure in Europe...

Are you from Europe?

Re: Changes in Europe!, on: 2012/10/17 16:44

Quote:

----- I totally disagree that Europe will not change.

The biggest and most powerful Move of God to hit this earth is going to start in Europe. murrcoir

I pray that you are right brother. May it be so as you have shared.

From the very first day I believed my concern has been with the churches. Though I love to evangelise and gain more encouragement from seeing men and women come to a true knowledge of Christ than anything else; I have also known very little encouragement from the gradual decline of brotherly love in fellowship to individuality with all of the attendant natural witchcraft which this individualism has inevitably brought in.

The Lord has given me peace about this although it is a source of real indignation as well. A few times over the years I have been encouraged by an insight from the Lord. One of them was on the Isle of Lewis in the 1990's where I withstood strange spiritual darkness more discernible than I have known before or since. Yet in the midst of this darkness there was a certain knowledge that a small light would shine in that place which would be the beginning of a great latter move of God that would sweep across Europe. To this day I have not lost the conviction of this though every outward evidence is contrary to it.

To say therefore that Europe will not change seems like a contradiction. Yet Europe is many nations and peoples. This includes peoples who are against Israel and represent a hatred of the Jews the like of which makes Islam seem reasonable. When that hatred once again finds its expression Europe will be plunged into darkness of a kind which is unspeakable; even though before this time the light will shine brightly in the present darkness. For me the apparent contradiction is no contradiction it is simple discernment and understanding most of which I keep to myself. All of us who love the Lord today may well find ourselves in times which are presently incomprehensible. It is right that we should focus on the hope, and desire the light, but we will not escape the testing which is to come, or escape the darkness. We will if we are faithful be all the more bright and visible for Christ in that hour. So I believe.

Re: - posted by murrcoir (), on: 2012/10/17 20:57

Quote: How come you believe that murrcoir...

Why because God has said it.

Quote: I sense that there is a lot of false fire arising in Europe...Much activism of churches...but thats not revival. Revival is when people are truly filled by the Spirit of God and out of that infilling hold Jesus` commandments...I cannot see that in any significant measure in Europe...

You won't see it just yet, but don't give up.

Quote: Are you from Europe?

Yes I am from Scotland....

Re: - posted by murrcolr (), on: 2012/10/17 21:21

Quote: One of them was on the Isle of Lewis in the 1990's where I withstood strange spiritual darkness more discernible than I have known before or since. Yet in the midst of this darkness there was a certain knowledge that a small light would shine in that place which would be the beginning of a great latter move of God that would sweep across Europe.

Look to the North East of Scotland.... but if you come looking, you'll hear it from people mouths that God is going to send a revival to that area but you won't find anything to give you hope, just watch and pray then when you hear it come..

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oXnLICx-UwA>

Re: Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany - posted by wijnand (), on: 2012/10/18 2:56

Hi brother David,

"Are there any people from Europe/Germany here who actually want to live by Jesus' commandments and follow him radically?"

What do you mean by this?

Further, we have a fellowship/church (and multiple friend-churches) in the Netherlands. So if you could explain the line above.

Brotherly greetings,
Wijnand

Re: - posted by Gonzalo, on: 2012/10/18 4:17

@ murrcolr:

You know...so many people say so different things which God supposedly said, which totally contradict each other. I've come to be very careful with enthusiastic prophecies, because many of them (actually most of them) came from the charismatic movement and did not fulfill at all... So simply to say "God said it" is not enough for me...Maybe I haven't got enough insight into what is going on in different parts of Europe, but of the things I recognize, at least here in Germany, I see very bad developments in almost ALL churches...but ok, I would hope that you're right and at least I got the hope that little lights will arise in midst of the darkness...but I can not see any great revival in Europe, let alone one, that will sweep the whole world...in order for this to happen, European Christians would first have to give up their loyalty to Mammon and Worldliness...Call me a pessimist, but I don't believe that this will happen in a significant measure...It WILL happen...but only in small groups of people, I believe...

Re: - posted by Gonzalo, on: 2012/10/18 4:23

Hello brother Wijnand:

What I mean by this is that people start to take up their cross and follow Jesus' commandments (like for example those of the Sermon on the Mount) literally in their lives...Which means they don't resist evil, pay back evil done to them with good, love their enemies, reject Mammon and materialism and share their possessions with those in need, live in brotherly love and despise all worldly endeavours, which also take ALL the commandments of the NT literally like e.g. the submission of the woman to her husband (in contrast to Feminism which has infiltrated a great part of the church) and so on...There would be a lot to talk about...So, where are you at brother? Where are you standing spiritually?

Re: - posted by murrcolr (), on: 2012/10/18 9:43

Gonzalo you are correct there are many different voices saying many different things.

You are correct to be skeptical as you don't know me. All I can say is "God said it" because any more than that would end up bringing attention to myself, and I don't want that. I am sorry that I can't say much more than that.

Re: - posted by Josef83, on: 2012/10/19 2:12

Europe aint darker then any other place.

The bible teaches that those not being born again are walking in darkness..

1 John and John 3:19.

But those being born again are walking in the light.

THats what the bible teach.

So I dunno if there are less born again people in europa then on other places.

Hard to tell.

There are places in this world with almost no churches at all.

Re: - posted by wijnand (), on: 2012/10/19 2:39

Dear brother,

I think we are on the same side. We have 2 fellowships now. One in a village next to us (which is more arminian) and one that is in my village (which is more calvanistic).

If you want to have fellowship or meet one of us, just let me know. Also describe what you want/seeking, etc.

It is always nice to meet people from God!

Re: - posted by daniel- (), on: 2012/10/20 15:26

They are close to you:

<http://www.erweckt.de/>

Re: Looking for fellowship in Europe/Germany, on: 2012/10/20 22:45

Quote:

----- Europe needs an awakening...more than any other place in the world...

Ahem....Every country in the world is experiencing the need for an awakening, not just Europe.

We have a name over the door that we are Christian, inside, Christ is not there. Yes, we sing the hymns, we sing about the blood, we sing about the cross, still Christ is not there. It's just a form of godliness and no power.

I can't name one Church in my city that is following after the righteousness of God. We are scattered. The believers that I know don't fellowship with anyone but the ones they see on the street in passing. That is how I get my fellowship now-a-days, I rely heavily on the Lord to open doors for fellowship.