I really like Revival in Belfast by Robin Mark. Its my new favorite. Its the only album I can play when I want to really see k God.

Will Reagan is good too sometimes.

I love music that speaks of a deep relationship with God, or revival, etc

Re: - posted by lochieng76, on: 2012/12/8 14:30

I really like Don Moen's songs. They are very uplifting, encouraging and speak of a deep relationship with God. Ever listened to his latest album "Uncharted Territory"?

I also like Lenny LeBlanc. His songs are also really wonderful.

Re: , on: 2012/12/8 15:10

I haven't listened to Don Moen much but I heard something that turned me off and I can't find the reference for this but I could have read it on sermonindex: that he takes his extravagant entourage into poor cities and charges huge amounts of money for his tickets while people can barely survive on little. I prefer poor and humble: ie- all Christ shining through no trusting or depending on riches. yes some on my list might not make the cut (let me know).

I also read somewhere, if you know any different let me know, that Matt Redman only receives the median yearly income for his income and the rest is given away/etc. I like that. I want to be like that. I read stories of poor people that have so much Christ and have started revivals (Azusa st, Chuck Smith etc) in dependence on Him. and on and on... makes me tingle inside to hear those things...

greed and extravagance turn me off and head people into snares...

Sorry for playing judge, its just how I feel. For I would probably need more work done on myself than Don Moen.

Blessings

thank you mangan. I like Maranatha and Talbot.

I'm thinking about purchasing a NeedToBreathe album. anyone like them? if so, any particular album you recommend?

Re: , on: 2012/12/11 17:12

sorry for the hasty post. I am sampling them (needtobreathe) on amazon and they aren't as spiritual as I'm looking for

Hi NoahJD

A couple of albums I play constantly at this moment are 'Cornerstone' the new one from Hillsong. I find it absolutely uplifting and when I have the house to myself have the most wonderful worship times with it. My dad was never keen on Hillsong but I played it to him without telling him who it was and he loved it!

I also love 'white flag' from passion, which is a compilation of worship leaders at a 'Passion' event which raises funds to fight trafficking. The singers on this album include Chris Tomlin, Christy Nockells (absolutely love her 'You revive me' solo !)
David Crowder band, there is also '10,000 reasons' sang by Matt Redman - another amazing album!

My husband for my birthday bought me 'Soul Survivor & Momentum Live 2011, We are the Free' We played it in the car going on holiday and I was amazed when he then continued to play it for the rest of the week, while driving around on holiday! He said he was so impressed at the high standard of the album and could see that the music had come a long way from the sub-standard and poor quality he always felt Christian music was years ago!

I have a wide array of tastes and also love 'Brooklyn Tabernacle choir' and just to think that a majority of the choir are ex drug addicts, alcoholics and prostitutes is incredible! The joy shines in their faces! I posted a message on youtube that I want to be in their corner of Heaven when we arrive and praise the Lord! My dad wept at their DVD filmed singing in a prison - incredible!

I truly feel praise and worship the past 5 years or so has gone up a level and there is such an anointing. I love the songs we sing today and the revamping of the old ones, even old hymns have had a new lease of life at our church! the words are amazing and are giving God the praise and honour He deserves!

Sons of Korah - An Australian band who do the psalms.

Christ our life- free & can be found on Sermon Index.

Robert evans - does Scripture Songs - free.

These have all blessed me over the years

I too, have recently found Will regan & united pursuit and have really been blessed by the joy in song.

For something a little different have a listen to the Getty's. Keith and Kristen Getty. Modern Irish hymn writers. I think they have done a bit with Simon Townsend. Over time I'm finding a greater blessing in the hymns both old and new. Worth a listen. Many churches seem to be using their songs now.

I completely second TomfromOZ's recommendation! love keith and kirstyn getty! seriously modern day hymns, haha. they are the ones that wrote "in Christ alone" which i initially thought was an "old-school" hymn i would also recommend songs by "sovereign grace"

two albums that i have listened to:

- 1) come weary saints
 - 2) valley of vision (based on the book of puritan prayers called valley of vision)
- their songs are very very very theologically rich and gospel centered also a cd from calvary chapel called "my journey home"
