Obama on Gay Marriage: America's Gone Through 'Same Evolution I've Gone Through' - posted by sermonindex (),

President Barack Obama said Friday that the country as a whole has gone through the same "evolution" he has in now supporting same-sex marriage.

"As everybody here knows, last year upon a long period of reflection, I concluded that we cannot discriminate against same-sex couples when it comes to marriage, that the basic principle that America is founded on, the idea that we're all created equal, applies to everybody regardless of sexual orientation, as well as race or gender or religion or ethnicity," Obama said. "I think that the same evolution that I've gone through is an evolution that the country as a whole has gone through, and I think it is a profoundly positive thing."

"Woe to those who call evil good and good evil, who put darkness for light and light for darkness, who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter." - Isaiah 5:20

This is not liberty but an allowance for bondage and sin in society.

What's sad about this election specifically is it marks a point in time when America as a whole has decided to stand with ideals like abortion and the homosexual agenda despite the overwhelming evidence that these issues have historically done a great deal of harm on a society and have been the undoing of entire civilizations. I believe once Obama was re-elected a clock was started and time as we know it is now counting down. I don't believe that a revival will halt that countdown, however many can and will be saved, through the fire as it were, but this country will have been brought extremely low. Christians will be ecstatic and extremely happy to leave for heaven by the time this train run is done. Living in the land of dreams will be more like living in a nightmare by the time the trumpet of God blows, we'll all be glad to go!

Sorry. You're much too tolerant. This is a PROMOTION of godlessness.

Greetings

what concerning to me is how many younger people who profess to follow the LORD do not see allowing gay marriage as a big deal. I have shared on another thread that I was trying to share with one such young person about this very topic. They too see it as a right that should be allowed to all citizens. I can't agree with that to me once we begin allowing gay marriage then we are implying the sinful behavior is acceptable when it is clearly against GOD.

God bless

First off, we all know that obama switched his opinion for the gay vote. It's politics but what the gays (and others who think he's their friend) don't realize is that (I believe) he will turn on them in a heartbeat when push comes to shove. Muslims hate homosexuality. Before Hitler came to full power in Germany, he was for gays too (or he allowed them in his ranks), then the Gestapo knocked on their doors in the middle of the night and took them all to the death camps, along with the Jews.

Secondly, nothing about this administration has taken God by surprise and remember that God never panics and neither should we be surprised or panic!! He really is in control.

My personally held opinion is that we need not focus on these things that cause fear in the hearts of men but be about our Father's business: preaching and healing the sick, cleansing the lepers, raising the dead, casting out demons: freely we have received, freely we need to be giving. Matt 10.1-8 AMEN!!!

God bless my friends,
Lisa
