Children's Network Launches Transsexual Superhero Show - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2013/5/30 9:01

Nothing says “child-appropriate material” quite like gender-bending underage superheroes. At least that’s the theory over at the Hub, the network co-owned by Discovery and Hasbro, which is trotting out its latest soon-to-be-dud, SheZow. That show follows the adventures of a 12-year-old boy named Guy who uses a magic ring to transform himself into a crime-fighting girl. Yes, you read that correctly. When Guy says the magic words “You go girl!” he becomes SheZow, wearing a purple skirt and cape, as well as pink gloves and white boots. ...
