WORLDVIEW WEEKEND

Exclusive newsletter

A Social Media Page for Those That Embrace a Biblical Worldview

BIG NEWS! www.myworldviewpage.com has now launched. We have spent the past few days tweaking the page with the feedback of about 450 members. Now we are ready for you and your friends to join. It is free so join now. Our slogan is:

MyWorldviewPage is where conservative Christians can connect, fellowship, and encourage one another by sharing Biblical resources and discussing Biblical issues that strengthen a Biblical worldview.

Tonight we are sending this e-mail alert to our list of nearly 200,000 people and inviting them to join this fast growing social media site.

The idea for this social media site came about after we were locked out of our Worldview Weekend page on Facebook for four days late on June 20th to June 24th. You can read more about this here:

On June 27th American Thinker reported "over the last couple of weeks Facebook has clamped down heavily on various (around 40) counter-jihad and patriot pages. The administrators of these pages were shocked when they logged on and found that their pages had suddenly 'disappeared'". According to American Thinker, "on the 19th of June, 'Ban Islam' was itself banned. ('Ban Islam' had at least 45,000 followers.) The admin immediately set up 'Ban Islam 2' only to be banned again a couple of days ago. 'Islam Against Women', 'Islam Free Planet' and many others have also been banned. The blog Sharia Unveiled estimates that around 40 pages have been banned in the last couple of weeks. And, as that blog puts it, 'from what we are hearing, this is only the beginning'". You can read the entire article here:

This very same week Todd Starnes, of Fox News, reported that he too had been banned by Facebook. Later Facebook said it was a mistake but I am not buying it because of the numerous reports of this happening to others and my own firsthand experience.

These are only a few of the numerous reports you will find on the World Wide Web of what is happening over at Facebook according to many firsthand reports.
