

Devotional Thoughts :: The honest Observer...

The honest Observer... - posted by MaryJane, on: 2013/10/31 14:46

The honest observer is watching the world fall apart at the seams... But, the Mighty One, the Deliverer, Jesus Christ has Come! Still, humans think they "have a better idea" than the God Who made them. Ridiculously, humans relentlessly consider themselves more wise and more loving than their God and King.

In view of the tragic degeneracy of humanity and its world religions, perhaps we should at long last take Jesus and His Scriptures seriously, even on topics that fallen flesh would normally reject. Only in submitting to His Words can we anticipate His Fruit. Do we really want more of the rotten fruit of Western and Eastern cultural man-crafted religions? Loving and obeying Jesus will get you hated as He was - but His Fruit is OH so good, Indwelling in His Life.

JESUS gave us the Way and man has responded with religion...

God Bless
mj