Nigerian Christians: We Are On the Run - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2014/9/18 11:11

What ISIS has done in Iraq, Boko Haram is doing in Nigeria, a Nigerian cleric says. For Rev Samuel Dali, recent territorial gains made by Boko Haram in the northeast, signal the end of his home and of the church in that part of the country, Africa's most populous.

"The news is really bad. When they attacked our hometown, we decided to vacate the place. In Michika and surrounding areas, soldiers were running away. Some of them were killed or wounded and lot of people were also running for their lives," Rev. Samuel Dali, President of the Church of the Brethren in Nigeria, told World Watch Monitor as he was on the run, a few metres from the Cameroon border.

During the weekend of Sept. 6-7, Boko Haram militants took over Dali's hometown of Michika, in Adamawa State, on Nigeria's eastern border. Recent territorial gains made by Boko Haram in the northeast, he said, signal the end of his home and of ...
