Dear brothers and sisters,

At the suggestion of one of the Moderators, some changes have taken place regarding the posts on the TAS Forum.

Instead of starting a new thread for each new message, there will now be subject threads. The first of these is called:

The Christian Life and Service

This means that you will have to keep on checking this thread (and those that will follow) to read all the added posts - new messages - on this subject thread.

I hope that all is clear, if not please revert.

I have added a little icon, (the one which represents a page), when the thread is a book that will contain a few chapters.
