prayer request for little emily's battle with cancer - posted by tbsounde2 (), on: 2015/12/31 2:18

Dear brothers and sisters on sermonindex:

Hope you are all daily being strengthened and filled with the knowledge of our Father's love through the gospel of His Son Jesus Christ. It's been quite a while since I've posted on this forum but I wanted to share an urgent prayer request with you. A pastor friend in our network of churches has a little daughter who has been battling cancer for over a year now. It has been quite a difficult journey, one with many ups and downs and sleepless nights, but also one where it is clear the Lord is ever present and faithfully working all things for good even in the midst of such a dark and difficult circumstance. Would you please consider joining us in prayer to lift up little Emily and her family to the Lord? You can use the link included below to stay up to date on little Emily's progress. Many thanks!

Blessings,

Will

May the Lord Jesus Christ touch emily today and heal her, for His glory alone.

We stand in agreement with our brothers and sisters for Emily's healing.

We thank you Lord that you are the healer, and that you were manifested to destroy the works of the devil. We pray Lord that there would be a release of your healing power on the basis of the blood of Jesus and the price that you paid for her healing. We thank you Lord that you sent your Word to heal Emily and to deliver her from her destructions. We praise you Lord for hearing and answering our prayers in the name of Jesus.

Consider posting her prayer request here also on Time Square Church's Tuesday night prayer meeting where over 160 countries join in to pray for the prayer requests that show up at the bottom of the screen.

I've posted prayers and you have 140 characters to get the majority of the prayer request in.

And you can see other prayer requests posted if you want to watch the latest Tuesday night meeting here for one week after before the next one comes on.

God bless you and we'll remember her,
