Saints,

I know many have added this to their blogs but I wanted to bring it back up again for those who have not seen this.

It is a script coding that allows you to directly host over 50 of the best messages on SermonIndex by a variety of speakers.

You can start a new page on your blog choose the HTML code view and then copy and paste the code into your page. the code is here:

<https://www.sermonindex.net/sermonscript.php>

an example of the script is here: <http://sermonindex.blogspot.ca/p/sermon-script-example.html>

You can copy and paste this entire page to your blog also as another method.

NOTE: for those who have the code already installed make sure you have the latest version, the first versions images are all broken.
