

General Topics :: Language in Eden*Language in Eden - posted by TMK (), on: 2019/3/6 15:02

Today while I was walking a question popped in my head that strangely I have never considered before- namely, what language did Adam and Eve speak? A heavenly language? If so, how long did it continue- until Babel?

I understand this is not a topic of huge importance; I just thought it was interesting to think about.

Re: Language in Eden - posted by Martyr (), on: 2019/3/6 21:29

I think its impossible to know for sure but Jewish tradition says it was Hebrew.

Re: - posted by Martyr (), on: 2019/3/6 21:31

Heres a link brother to some thought on that topic: https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Adamic\_language?wprov=sfla1

Re: Language in Eden - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2019/3/15 20:38

A funny:

This question was a topic of a discussion of why a German Bible is superior to other translations/language. The Amish man declared the German is the language God spoke because in the garden he asked Adam, "Vo bish do?" (Where are you?)

:~)

Sandra