I noticed that there are a couple of files on here of Leonard Ravenhill recommending books to read.

I guess no one would be kind enough to post the books talked about on this thread would they? :-)

I think it would be very much appropriate. :-D

Look for the Wrtbooks reply, that should be what you are looking for. They are listed 1 thru 41.

Hi Will, yes the list is found on the link Mike showed you above. All the books can be gotten from www.rarechristianbooks.com I really recommend there ministry, they are great! ;-)

For others wondering about where the audio is on 'leonard ravenhill book recommends' here are the links:

If I am not mistaken the list posted is very different than what would be compiled from listening to those files. I did it once and maybe I will post my results. It's hard because a lot of it's not very clear and he might give a name but not author or other way around and no spelling so it's some guess work.

For example, he seems to highly recommend some book by a man named Gouge which I think I only found at one online used book place for like $1000 or something and not even in perfect shape (but that figure could be way off).

Also some book called "The Possibilities of Grace" I have heard both Ravenhill and I think Smithers both talk about but I remember having trouble getting that one also.

I am pretty sure I checked rarechristianbooks.com but maybe I'm wrong.
