E-mail Virus? - posted by PreachParsly (), on: 2006/1/17 9:17

Hello,

I received and e-mail from Greg (sermonindex@mac.com)early this morning.

It looks to be a virus. I'm sure it got sent to everyone on his list. In the subject line all it said was "re:" In the body had 3 pictures. They did not load on my e-mail. It has an attachment called "Attachments001.BHX" I have hotmail and it has a virus scanner on it and this is what it said about the file " WORM_GREW.A Virus Found."

Greg may have an e-mail virus so if you get this e-mail from him I would just delete it. He is on the road and he may not even know about it. I did e-mail him and tell him but I thought I would post on here just incase someone else got that e-mail.

Did anyone else get that e-mail?

I know I asked this in the first post, but I was wondering if anyone else got this e-mail? Was I the only one?

I did not get an email from Greg with a virus. It could be that our servers blocked it though.

Mike

I haven't received it, but I'll alert him to it the next time I talk to him.
