When reading the book "An Instrument of Revival" on the life of Evan Roberts - it stated that near the end of his life he had a radio show of some sort. Does anyone know if the audio of this is still in existence? is it accesible? I think it would be very interesting to hear his voice. Anyways I've always been curious about this and I figured that this would be the place to ask.

God bless!

Jeff

Hello there Jeff.

I personally do not think it is the voice of Evan Roberts, I think it is more of Duncan Campbell than of anybody else I have heard. The voice in the recording come pretty close to his. Just my view. God bless

Of course it is likely Evan Roberts has a similar accent to Duncan Campbell although they came from very different places. But, the recordings of Duncan Campbell are 50 years newer, which is why they are good.

One of the things therefore which recommends this as Evan Roberts, is that it is such an old recording whose origin has been verified by a formal authority.

Duncan Campbell was only six years old when this recording was made. ;-)
