For personal reasons, I've decided to remove my post.

Hi Jimmy,

I would just encourage you both to continue to seek God's will for your lives. It is impossible to improve on His perfect will. I knew of a brother once that broke up with his fiancée and then they later got together again and have been successful in ministry for many years. I guess I am just encouraging you both to keep this before the Lord. Finding a good wife is a difficult thing. Truly!

I'll be in prayer for you as it comes to mind.

Robert
