A bridge to end all terrorism? - posted by John173 (), on: 2007/8/11 12:23

I enjoy poking around on Google Earth. Mostly because of the many photographs of God's creation. I'm in awe of His incredible creativity, and this is a way of 'traveling' to see more of it.

Today I traveled to Africa. There are buttons you can click that usually bring up the Wikipedia page for that city or country. I clicked on the button for Africa. The only text that came up was the following...

"Bonding together in concrete and steel all the multinational continents: Africa, Europe, Asia, North & South America. It is proposed that the Trans Earth Freeway System be built on an indestructible foundation of high performance concrete, over 100,000 miles in length, encircling the continents of Africa, Europe, Asia, North & South America. Housed within the foundation, a projected network of global power lines will interconnect the electrical energy grids of all the mainland cities of the world."

Required new monster bridges: Strait of Gibraltar, Hormus Straight, Bering Strait, Bab el Mandeb.

This was followed by a link to (<http://www.summitbridge.com/>) this page.

It simply boggles my mind that people are convinced that building bridges between continents will actually end worldwide violence. Simply unbelievable. One world government anybody?

Regards,

Doug

I just had to laugh, after posting this I looked further at the "vote" totals. This thing is taking off like wildfire! Since March of '07 there has been a resounding 265 yeah and verily yeah votes cast worldwide! :-)

Should be renamed the Bridge to Babel.

Blessings Greg :-?
