Repentance

“For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation.” 2 Corinthians 7:10

Conviction of sin is best portrayed in the words -

"My sins, my sins, my Saviour, How sad on Thee they fall."

Conviction of sin is one of the rarest things that ever strikes a man. It is the threshold of an understanding of God. Jesus Christ said that when the Holy Spirit came He would convict of sin, and when the Holy Spirit rouses a man's conscience and brings him into the presence of God, it is not his relationship with men that bothers him, but his relationship with God - "against Thee, Thee only, have I sinned, and done this evil in Thy sight." The marvels of conviction of sin, forgiveness, and holiness are so interwoven that it is only the forgiven man who is the holy man, he proves he is forgiven by being the opposite to what he was, by God's grace. Repentance always brings a man to this point: I have sinned. The surest sign that God is at work is when a man says that and means it. Anything less than this is remorse for having made blunders, the reflex action of disgust at himself.

The entrance into the Kingdom is through the panging pains of repentance crashing into a man's respectable goodness; then the Holy Ghost, Who produces these agonies, begins the formation of the Son of God in the life. The new life will manifest itself in conscious repentance and unconscious holiness, never the other way about. The bedrock of Christianity is repentance. Strictly speaking, a man cannot repent when he chooses; repentance is a gift of God. The old Puritans used to pray for "the gift of tears." If ever you cease to know the virtue of repentance, you are in darkness. Examine yourself and see if you have forgotten how to be sorry.

yes, many people do not see this. what oswald says is very true.

many christians think that if a sinner is laying on his deathbed that he can quickly repent before he dies. no, no....if his heart is so harden by sin it will take a sledge hammer to break it.

he can ask for forgiveness... but without conviction of sin...? we so easily forget it is a gift from God. we can't just one day decide thru all the earlier times that God tried to reach us and we continue to harden our hearts that one day we will choose this day to repent. well, now Lord, i am ready, i had my fun, lets repent. i'm just going to choose to get saved. no. no, even on your death bed you can see your need to repent, but your heart can still be so harden from years of refusing God and you may not be granted repentance. this is why we must choose TODAY, when we hear His voice.....that our heart may not harden further to where we cannot cry over our sin.

finney had a great understanding of this. i believe this is why he did much preaching right into the heart, exposing the evil motives to break the fallow ground of hardness, that people may see their sin that will lead to godly sorrow, leading to repentance.
