

Miracles that follow the plow :: again, prayer request :)*again, prayer request :) - posted by daniel- (), on: 2006/7/26 14:40

Hi,

i have been to a christian camp last week.

I come out of this with a new vision and new strength.

But I still have a depression problem.

Most of the time there is absolute confusion in my head.

I have to think about spiritual topics over and over again.

I cant stop it, it is a compulsion.

This is truly bothering, its hard to explain and you may not understand it for I do not understand it myself.

But I hope you pray for god to heal me...

Maybe he wont do it in the near future, maybe to keep me close to him because this agony is constantly driving me into the presence of god.

Also, i am not one hundred percent clear about to do a thing or not.

Please pray for this also,

thank you very much daniel

Re: again, prayer request :) - posted by JoeA (), on: 2006/7/26 15:25

Quote:

-----Maybe he wont do it in the near future, maybe to keep me close to him because this agony is constantly driving me into the presence of god.

Do you realize how blessed you are? To be driven into the presence of God? Most of us crawl out of His presence, yet you are driven to Him. Brother, you are blessed.

"My grace is sufficient for thee, for my strength is made perfect in weakness."