ANSWER PRAYER!!! - posted by hmmhmm (), on: 2007/2/12 15:52

just wanted to praise God for his goodness, he provides for his children, Me and my family have struggled with financial problems for some time now, the phone got cut off to bills that haven't been paid and problems come many at the time, but the little faith i have trusts God and prays for help.... so my wife tells me about dinnertime today, we need money..as i didn't know that! but to point out the stress in that if we don't get money there won't be any breakfast tomorrow, and i have 6 children, so in this burden i went to a House prayer meeting, i did not say anything! but in the middle of prayer a woman gets up goes gets her purse opens it and hand me money and says - god wants me to give this to you....

i just broke and cried and thanked the lord thanked her and just almost ashamed toward god for my doubts that i had, but ohh what a merciful god we serve! thank you JESUS! thank YOU praise God.

He heard me one time. I was at a church that I didn't know anyone, I prayed Lord I have this bill I need to pay. I went to Church, After this lady whom I didn't know came up to me and said the Lord told me you have a need, how can I meet it. WOW! God really knows our needs

That is wonderful. What an encouragement to "we of little faith". We KNOW in theory that God provides for our needs, but when it comes to the test....

But even as a mustard seed - water it and it grows!!! Your faith has been watered and brought forth a good crop, Brother! It must be so hard to think of your children having to go hungry, but you have proved God's faithfulness through what you suffered.

Miracles that follow the plow :: ANSWER PRAYER!!!

Encouragement and a lesson for all I think.

Even Paul said he had to learn to cope both with need and with prosperity (Phil 4:10-13)

Strange how people quote "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me" (v 13) without the context.

The prosperity preachers must be reading a different Bible!

Blessings upon blessings; now you have learnt of His provision, may He shower you with so much that you have to learn the opposite lesson instead!!! (If you can take it, of course ;-))

:-P

These smiley things don't quite always convey it but, Praise God brother.

Praise God! Thanks for sharing, this will certainly build faith, the trials won't necessarily end but neither will God's faithfulness.

In Christ,
