That is so utterly evil!

However, I think they have misunderstood what the "blasphemy against the Holy Spirit" really means.

Maybe there's hope for some of these rebels yet!

Let's pray for them, there have been withches and Satanists who have repented and found the Lord

We could always start a testimony challenge and challenge youth to put up their testimonies of how they came to know Jesus Christ... then again that would require taking action, it's easier just to talk about it.

Now thats a good idea. Anyone know how to go about doing such a task? How does one affiliate with YOUTUBE.com and get a page up and running to contradict this evil garbage. How would one prevent these "rebels" from posting falsely, just to post to gain "internet exposure"?

interesting... unbelievers take action about as easy we talk. hmmm...

I don't want to lump everybody into that statement, just a thought.

There have been a few that have posted refusing to accept the challenge. However, they are few and far between.
