

General Topics :: Prayer for my wife*Prayer for my wife - posted by BradW (), on: 2007/4/6 16:28

Dear Saints,

I humbly ask for your earnest prayers for my wife, Lindsay.

She has been having headaches and nausea for the past week now and having gone to the hospital, the relief is short lived.

They ran a CT scan on her brain to rule out any tumor-related symptoms and, thank God, there was nothing abnormal.

I ask that you would come into agreement with me for her healing, and pray for her for even 30 seconds or just to make mention of her before our King.

I thank you all.

In Christ,
Brad.

Re: Prayer for my wife, on: 2007/4/6 16:43

I have prayed.

Re: Prayer for my wife - posted by tjservant (), on: 2007/4/6 17:17

I too have prayed

Re: Prayer for my wife - posted by BradW (), on: 2007/4/6 21:36

Thank you all very much. I testify in Jesus Christ that she is beginning to feel better. I give credit to Jesus in response to your prayers.

Brad.

Re:, on: 2007/4/6 22:10

Me, too.

Re: Prayer for my wife - posted by Goldminer (), on: 2007/4/6 23:58

Dear Brad,

I have prayed. I also want to add that my husband heard on a news show that if you eat a granny smith apple it will take a migraine away. I don't get migranes so I have no verification for it, however, it's worth a try.