

News and Current Events :: Atheist offers to send letters post-Rapture

Atheist offers to send letters post-Rapture - posted by sermonindex (), on: 2007/5/10 13:55

Atheist offers to send letters post-Rapture

Neither snow, nor rain, nor fire and brimstone will keep Joshua Witter from the swift completion of his appointed rounds come the end of the world.

Witter, a 24-year-old self-described atheist living in Orlando, is the creator of the Post-Rapture Post, which bills itself as "the postal service of the saved."

For as little as $4.99, Witter offers to deliver your letters to friends and loved ones left behind after the Rapture, when so me Christians believe they will be whisked up to heaven while everyone else — the "Left Behind" of the popular book s eries — suffers a series of tribulations.

As Witter sees it, it will fall to the unsaved to serve as the postmen of the Apocalypse. ...

read more: http://www.usatoday.com/news/religion/2007-05-08-post-rapture_N.htm

Re: Atheist offers to send letters post-Rapture - posted by MSeaman (), on: 2007/5/10 14:18

Do you laugh or cry at the silliness?

adds one more atheist to the prayer list

Re: Atheist offers to send letters post-Rapture, on: 2007/5/10 14:24

Hahahahahahaaaaa!!!!

An athiest with more sense than the pre-tribs!

Mua-ha-hahahahahaha!!!

Re: Atheist offers to send letters post-Rapture - posted by redeemedone (), on: 2007/5/10 14:30

i have read it and i dont think i understand what he says. can you explain please...

Re: - posted by Compton (), on: 2007/5/10 14:43

Quote:
-----An athiest with more sense than the pre-tribs!

Brother,

We need to lay down the shoulder chip we have with other Christians. If Jesus can abide with Christians, so can we. I'm speaking to myself here as well. I have much to be forgiven of in this area.

Cynicism can become an unfortunate pitfall of those eager and weary to see revival. I normally wouldn't love enough to s ay anything, but I have come to see that cynicism is how the enemy makes ineffective the prayers of the very people mo st likely to pray for revival. Your fervent care for the Church, which I believe coarses through your heart with a heavy bur den, should be directed in most holy prayer, and not horizontal sarcasm.

Pray for me most of all dear brother. I am wanting to lay down my bitter zeal for a hopeful vision. We need hopeful expectant hearts to pray for this generation. Without hope we might as well not even insult God with our prayers.

As EM Bounds as said...Prayer can do anything God can do.

MC

Re:, on: 2007/5/10 14:59

"But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise..." (1 COR 1:27)

Tragic irony? Or poetic justice?

I can't help myself. I'm still laughing.