

News and Current Events :: Hate Crimes Laws: Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians

Hate Crimes Laws: Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians - posted by BenBrockway, on: 2007/6/13 21:35

Hate Crimes Laws: Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians

June 13, 2007 - Wednesday

Advocates of a sweeping national "hate crimes" law are on the verge of victory in the U.S. Congress. With massive funding from the homosexual lobby, these advocates are moving one step closer to the day when the federal government will be able to investigate, and punish, politically incorrect speech and thoughts.

Think "it can't happen here"? In October 2004, a small group of Christians, now known as the "Philadelphia 11," were arrested and spent a night in jail for preaching the Gospel at a "gay pride" event. They were charged with a "hate crime" under Pennsylvania law. Though the case was ultimately dismissed, the Christians had no support from the ACLU and other self-described champions of free speech. More and more, the political left is protecting the First Amendment rights only of speakers they agree with.

Hate crimes laws now threaten free speech and religious liberty nationwide. They have the potential to "shut down churches and send pastors to prison for simply reading a part of the Bible," as Dr. D. James Kennedy has warned.

Family Research Council, along with Coral Ridge Ministries, invites you to order a copy of our provocative new video, "Hate Crimes Laws": Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians. This program, which I had the honor to host, features shocking examples of how hate crimes laws trample free speech, muzzle broadcasters, and intimidate pastors in country after country.

For a limited time, with a donation of any amount, you can obtain this 40-minute video and discover how even the Bible is being deemed "hate" literature. The time has come for every citizen to take action. Violent crimes are despicable, and their perpetrators deserve swift and certain punishment. But the purpose of "hate crime" laws is to attribute violence to certain ideas as a way of attacking and ultimately outlawing those ideas, among them, that homosexual conduct is wrong and unhealthy.

If hate crime laws proliferate, the freedom to speak one's mind will be limited to those who celebrate and promote homosexuality. share this with your neighbors, family, and friends. Our freedom to speak is the bedrock of our political liberties. Help us spread the word.

edited

Re: Hate Crimes Laws: Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians - posted by enid, on: 2007/6/14 2:17

Was reading that the words and phrases 'natural family, marriage and the union of a man and a woman' might soon become so called hate speech.

Whilst we are indifferent about it, satan is moving to get this to happen as soon as possible.

So far, it hasn't really affected the Church as a whole, but in time, the tide will turn.

It will mean fines, imprisonment, unemployment, loss of family and friends, and even death.

But we should be ever ready to suffer for the gospel.

Suffering is not popular, or wanted, but it is inevitable, 2 Tim 3v12.

However, we have a wonderful God to help us here and now, and a glorious home awaiting us.

And it is not on this earth, thank God!

God bless.

Re:, on: 2007/6/14 7:57

"Homosexuality is a sin."

There, I said it. Throw me in jail.

Krispy

Re: - posted by dohzman (), on: 2007/6/14 10:56

This is indeed serious because anything that is said, especially in media like radio will be targeted as a hate crime offense. These kind of bills won't have much impact until the right political climate exists, probably sometime after Bush is out of office.

Re:, on: 2007/6/14 11:13

Hmmm...

Seems to me that this could be a blessing to the church in America. Maybe we can get away from picking on gay people and turn our attention and sermons to the sins of our whitewashed pew warmers. One of the points in Charles Finney's list of ways to preach as to convert nobody is to preach against sin, just not the sins of the people to whom you are preaching. There is a relatively low percent of homosexuals in the American public, yet most Americans (including the vast majority of churchgoers) are greedy, liars, inwardly corrupt and openly given to numerous other forms of sexual immorality. It's easy for our teachers to preach against homosexuality since they generally are not given to homosexuality, it's a lot harder to preach against bitterness, greed, lukewarmness and the damnable sins that our supposed pastors and teachers themselves are in bondage to.

perhaps with this persecution will come a revival as the sheep and goats are manifest.

In Christ - Jim

Re: - posted by enid, on: 2007/6/14 11:30

Are the sexually immoral, bitter, greedy and lukewarm people asking for 'rights'?

If you say anything against them, will you get thrown into prison or find yourself without a job?

Let's not kid ourselves, this is war!

It is a satanic war. It has to be, because God has said homosexuality is a sin, and it is.

Just because man is perverting what God says doesn't make the sin obsolete.

What a farcical self-deceived world we live in, when man supposes he can usurp God.

Still, persecution is coming, we should be prepared for it.

God is good.

God bless.

Re: Hate Crimes Laws: Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians, on: 2007/6/14 11:34

In Canada this is what our Criminal Code states:

Section 318: Hate Propaganda

(1) Every one who advocates or promotes genocide is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years.

Definition of "genocide"

(2) In this section, "genocide" means any of the following acts committed with intent to destroy in whole or in part any identifiable group, namely,

(a) killing members of the group; or

(b) deliberately inflicting on the group conditions of life calculated to bring about its physical destruction.

Consent (3) No proceeding for an offence under this section shall be instituted without the consent of the Attorney General.

Definition of "identifiable group"

(4) In this section, "identifiable group" means any section of the public distinguished by colour, race, religion, ethnic origin or sexual orientation.

Section 319

(1) Every one who, by communicating statements in any public place, incites hatred against any identifiable group where such incitement is likely to lead to a breach of the peace is guilty of

(a) an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years; or

(b) an offence punishable on summary conviction.

Wilful promotion of hatred

(2) Every one who, by communicating statements, other than in private conversation, wilfully promotes hatred against any identifiable group is guilty of

(a) an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years; or

(b) an offence punishable on summary conviction.

Defences

(3) No person shall be convicted of an offence under subsection (2)

(a) if he establishes that the statements communicated were true;

(b) if, in good faith, he expressed or attempted to establish by argument an opinion on a religious subject;

(c) if the statements were relevant to any subject of public interest, the discussion of which was for the public benefit, and if on reasonable grounds he believed them to be true; or

(d) if, in good faith, he intended to point out, for the purpose of removal, matters producing or tending to produce feelings of hatred toward an identifiable group in Canada.

Forfeiture

(4) Where a person is convicted of an offence under section 318 or subsection (1) or (2) of this section, anything by means of or in relation to which the offence was committed, on such conviction, may, in addition to any other punishment imposed, be ordered by the presiding provincial court judge or judge to be forfeited to Her Majesty in right of the province i n which that person is convicted, for disposal as the Attorney General may direct.

Exemption from seizure of communication facilities

(5) Subsections 199(6) and (7) apply with such modifications as the circumstances require to section 318 or subsection (1) or (2) of this section.

Consent (6) No proceeding for an offence under subsection (2) shall be instituted without the consent of the Attorney General.

(7) In this section,

"communicating" includes communicating by telephone, broadcasting or other audible or visible means;

"identifiable group" has the same meaning as in section 318;

"public place" includes any place to which the public have access as of right or by invitation, express or implied;

"statements" includes words spoken or written or recorded electronically or electro-magnetically or otherwise, and gestures, signs or other visible representations.

Subsection 718.2

A court that imposes a sentence shall also take into consideration the following principles:

(a) a sentence should be increased or reduced to account for any relevant aggravating or mitigating circumstances relating to the offence or the offender, and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing,

(i) evidence that the offence was motivated by bias, prejudice or hate based on race, national or ethnic origin, language, colour, religion, sex, age, mental or physical disability, sexual orientation, or any other similar factor,

(ii) evidence that the offender, in committing the offence, abused the offender's spouse or common-law partner or child,

(iii) evidence that the offender, in committing the offence, abused a position of trust or authority in relation to the victim,

(iv) evidence that the offence was committed for the benefit of, at the direction of or in association with a criminal organization, or

(v) evidence that the offence was a terrorism offence

shall be deemed to be aggravating circumstances;

(b) a sentence should be similar to sentences imposed on similar offenders for similar offences committed in similar circumstances;

(c) where consecutive sentences are imposed, the combined sentence should not be unduly long or harsh;

(d) an offender should not be deprived of liberty, if less restrictive sanctions may be appropriate in the circumstances; and

(e) all available sanctions other than imprisonment that are reasonable in the circumstances should be considered for all offenders, with particular attention to the circumstances of aboriginal offenders.

Re:, on: 2007/6/14 14:35

Luk 18:11-12

Lord I thank thee for not making me as other men are such as this homosexual with his political agenda. I go to church twice a week and vote republican...

in Christ - Jim

Re:, on: 2007/6/14 14:42

and BTW, I am an uncompromising holiness preacher. Homosexuality is a damnable sin... infact all transgression is sin. I just think we have been brainwashed by our babylonian religious system to view other peoples sins as worse then ours. Even if they have a political agenda, they are no worse. Our kingdom is not of this world, biblical persecution has always gone hand in hand with a glorious advancement of the gospel.

Of course, most of us will be "raptured" before any of this persecution begins and affects our comfortable laodecian lifestyles in the west :oP

In Christ - Jim

Re: - posted by HomeFree89 (), on: 2007/6/14 15:07

Wow, this is another reminder to get on our faces before the Lord for our Country.

However, if this bill is passed, I'm sure that the Lord will use it as a wake up call. The "Church" is asleep in the spirit of Babylon and this might be the thing to wake it up. Sad, but maybe necessary. :-(

Jordan

Re:, on: 2007/6/14 16:23

Hey Jim... come down off your high horse. Most folks here are not what I would consider to be pew-warmers. Many are pastors, street preachers, elders, teachers... people who desire more of God, a deeper walk... etc.

Most of us preach against our own sins just as fervently as we preach against homosexuality. It all needs to be exposed and rebuked.

Krispy

Re: Hate Crimes Laws: Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians - posted by BenBrockway, on: 2007/6/15 8:03

While it irritates me that the homosexual and liberal community are trying to write into law, these such things, I'm kind of looking forward to seeing what it does to the Christian community at large. Are we going to hunker down? Are we going to be silenced? Or, are we going to take this opportunity to stand up for our beliefs even if it costs us imprisonment, or our life? This will be good testing of our faith. Revive us, Lord. Bring America, and the rest of the world, back to you.

Re:, on: 2007/6/15 8:24

Ben... I agree. On one hand, I will fight this type of legislation, but if it does pass it will weed out those who call themselves Christians but have no spine. Things like this always strengthen the church.

I hate to see it happen, I hate the duplicity behind it (we can't call homosexuality sinful, but they can call Christians every name in the book), but the revival that would happen as a result of persecution is going to be something to behold.

Krispy

Re: - posted by lastblast (), on: 2007/6/15 11:40

Quote:
-----Was reading that the words and phrases 'natural family, marriage and the union of a man and a woman' might soon become so called hate speech.

Hate to say this, but saying ANYTHING concerning what God says is sin, or what God Himself labels as a "natural" family (one man/one woman for life), within AND without the "church" is now being labelled hate, even by confessing Christians.

I believe when remarriage while one has a living spouse started becoming acceptable in the Church, the doors opened wide for ALL kinds of immorality to creep in. We are merely reaping what has been sown by our own compromise and tolerance of sin.

The Lord says that judgment begins at the house of the Lord. Perhaps the "persecution" we are starting to see unfold is His judgment on us.....we are pointing at the UNSAVED's sins, being persecuted for it, but we are not dealing with our OWN sins and purging them from ourselves. I just heard a stat on my local Christian radio that stated---among regular church going men (men who attend church EVERY WEEK), almost 50% said that they are addicted to pornography!!! That is shocking to say the least!!! According to Jesus' teaching on sin (outward and inward), these men are all practicing adulterers.....Are some of them the ones pointing fingers at the UNSAVED homosexual??? Probably, and that is very much like the actions of the Pharisees in Jesus' day---they were pointing out sins to the "less religious", yet Jesus said they were guilty of the very same sins they were charging others with.

Quote:
-----So far, it hasn't really affected the Church as a whole, but in time, the tide will turn. It will mean fines, imprisonment, unemployment, loss of family and friends, and even death. But we should be ever ready to suffer for the gospel.

You are quite wrong that addressing immorality and suffering for it hasn't really affected the Church (those in the BODY of Christ) yet. There are some who are suffering "loss" because they are speaking out against sin WITHIN the confessing church. They are rejected by those who name the name of Christ. I find it quite ironic that confessed Christians come against UNSAVED people who are persecuting them for standing against immorality, but the same Christians will stand against the BRETHREN/SISTERS who come against immorality WITHIN the Church. Personally, I think that persecution is much more difficult to take than persecution by the World, who don't claim to know/serve God. Just my two.....or three.

Re: - posted by lastblast (), on: 2007/6/15 11:43

Quote:
-----and BTW, I am an uncompromising holiness preacher. Homosexuality is a damnable sin... in fact all transgression is sin. I just think we have been brainwashed by our Babylonian religious system to view other people's sins as worse than ours. Even if they have a political agenda, they are no worse. Our kingdom is not of this world, biblical persecution has always gone hand in hand with a glorious advancement of the gospel.

Great post, Jim. :-)

Re: Hate Crimes Laws: Censoring the Church and Silencing Christians, on: 2007/7/13 17:53

Stand up Stand up for Jesus ye soldiers of the cross
Lift high your royal banner you must not suffer long.

A house divided cannot stand.

If anyone has HIS SPIRIT living within them if they condone sin vocally, support it in any fashion or be in support of a group that condones it and if they do they are a house divided and it cannot stand.

We need to pray for those people because it appears from scripture they honor HIM with their lips but their hearts are far from HIM.

Re: - posted by Compton (), on: 2007/7/13 20:31

Quote:
-----Or, are we going to take this opportunity to stand up for our beliefs even if it costs us imprisonment, or our life? This will be good testing of our faith. Revive us, Lord. Bring America, and the rest of the world, back to you.

I used to think our national trend away from Christianity from would tend to rally and unite the Church but I'm not so sure now. I feel we are divided on how to respond to the liberalization of the country.

I think American Christians don't know to view their country; is it a nation under God or Babylon the fallen? Those who, inspired by a fear of coming judgement, try to stand up and speak out, will be thought of as zealots by some Christians. On the other hand, those who feel that America, like the rest of world system, should be allowed to go it's separate way unimpeded, will be thought of as weak or compromised by others.

We Christians in America are wrestling with the paradyme shift towards socialism/totalitarianism in our country, and we are in disagreement as to how we should respond. I imagine some of us look back on earlier times in religous America with wistful sentiment, while others fantasize about a dark future where the lines between the Church and the world are refreshingly stark, if violent.

In any case, the present nebulous gray fog that we are in is disconcerting. It is like those scenes of civil war battlefields where the two opposing forces, shrouded in thick smoke, could not see clearly, but knew that they were mixed in with the enemy. (I am using a physical analogy in spiritual context.)

Presently there are many border disputes between the Church and the World. Christians are taking sides in these shifting struggles, and the result is strife within our own 'ranks.' Perhaps we might remember the current confusion, if ever we are rounded up and put into prisons...in the least we will at least be thankful for the restoration of defined borders...even if those borders are prison walls and barbed wire.

Quote:
-----A house divided cannot stand.

Amen. Yet there is a need for division some where. The question is where should the divide be established? I think this is what Jesus meant when he said "I come not to bring peace, but to bring a sword" . Not that we are exhorted to cut each other, or subdue the world...but that Jesus would bring the Sword of the Spirit into our situation, which is much like those smokey civil war battlefields, and separate the Church from the World. Sometimes the border falls between citizens of the same country. Sometimes the border falls between members of the same family. And sometimes the borderline falls right through the heart of a poor Christian.

Blessings,

MC

D. James Kennedy, on: 2007/7/14 2:38

If D. James Kennedy had been alive during the days of slavery, I'd bet he be standing up in a pulpit, Leviticus in hand, defending the "property rights" of slaveowners and bashing abolitionists.

I can hear him now.

MC, on: 2007/7/14 2:41

that was a really good post.

Quote:

-----And sometimes the borderline falls right through the heart of a poor Christian.

defending my brother, on: 2007/7/14 2:49

Quote:

-----Hey Jim... come down off your high horse.

YOU, lecturing brothers about being perched on a "high horse"?

Now that is true irony.

and I can tell you this, Jim is preaching out in places where a white boy like you wouldn't even dare to go, so maybe you should be the one to dismount that steed Krispy.

(I'm laughing while I write this btw, so don't get THAT irate)

Re:, on: 2007/7/19 12:17

BREAKING NEWS!!!!!!

Anyone who does not see the church being persecuted in the present age you just got back from another planet with some of our national leaders who were along with you on the trip. But there is good news. God is faithful. He who began a good work in you will be able to accomplish it. Phil 1:6

Ex 1:11-12

11 Therefore they did set over them taskmasters to afflict them with their burdens. And they built for Pharaoh treasure cities, Pithom and Raamses.

12 But the more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied and grew. And they were grieved because of the children of Israel.

KJV

Notice the more they afflicted God's people the more God's people multiplied and grew.

They also didn't stop Peter, John, Paul, James, and the other disciples. Even though they tried to stop and silence and prevent the power of God and HIS people from being what he called them to be, the power of God prevailed. The more they persecuted the more HIS message spread.

God's Word is still proclaimed today by those who do not want to turn it into a modern day culture gospel. 2 Peter 3:16

God help if we pervert it. Gal 1:7

We must defend and confirm the Gospel. Phil 1:7

We must be trustworthy with the gospel.

1 Thess 2:4

So just as always, you can't stop HIS WORD from going forth and accomplishing that which God sent it to do. Isaiah 5

5:11

Some may try to censor HIS WORD and change it to fit the culture but all they are going to do is cause God's people to grow and multiply.

Notice I said God's people. Which side are you taking? Are you standing up against the persecution and going with the flow and the culture?

Luke 11:23

23 "He who is not with me is against me, and he who does not gather with me, scatters.

What Joseph's brothers meant for evil God turned into good. Gen 44:4

Gal 6:9-10

9 And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

10 As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith

KJV

Re: - posted by welldone, on: 2011/8/26 11:51

Well said... Persecution will increase in all nations:

Things will get so bad that some government officials will not take responsibility for their actions, but find a scapegoat. At first hardships will be blamed on conservatives, but that will develop into blaming Christians for society's ills. Christians will be portrayed as the ones who caused the economic problems, are blocking the solutions, and standing in the way of progress. As history reveals, at first it will be sporadic, but over time gain momentum, until it becomes part of the culture when the average person believes it."

Don't be afraid, but be watchful. When you saw the NY Times portray the Norwegian mass murderer as a "Christian", that's one part. When you hear of Senator John Kerry and others call the downgrade of the US by Standard & Poors the "Tea Party downgrade," that's part of the spirit of Antichrist at work.

Satan takes advantage of the things of man, and since the world is facing economic crisis, that spirit will have room to work across borders and cultures for years to come, beyond the 4-5 years of economic issues.

Re: SI talking about persecution???????, on: 2011/8/26 14:17

Am I on the right web site???? A thread talking about persecution in America.. Surely this cannot be Sermon Index. I thought the persecuted were a taboo topic in this forum.

Blaine

Re: - posted by fartyr, on: 2011/8/26 16:10

Quote:

"Am I on the right web site???? A thread talking about persecution in America.. Surely this cannot be Sermon Index. I thought the persecuted were a taboo topic in this forum."

Stop being so smug. Your posts read so though you think yourself the only person who cares, weeps, and prays for the persecuted church. The rest of us don't feel the need to be so public about it.

Now get off the internet and go in silence to the prayer closet.

Re: A Troll, on: 2011/8/26 17:32

Satan get thee behind me in Jesus name. For the scripture says that the God of all peace will crush you under my feet.

Re: - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2011/8/26 18:47

fartyr wrote:

"Stop being so smug. Your posts read so though you think yourself the only person who cares, weeps, and prays for the persecuted church. The rest of us don't feel the need to be so public about it.

Now get off the internet and go in silence to the prayer closet."

fartyr, this is not all that edifying, is it?

Blaine's passion is for the persecuted church and it is good to be reminded of it because we may find ourselves in the not-so-distant future on the other end of the gun barrel because of our faith.

fartyr, one thing I have noticed on this forum is that everyone seems to specialize in certain topics. No one person is interested in all that are being discussed but will be very passionate in what is dear to their own heart. And this is the way a brotherhood operates: we are all gifted and not all have the same gifts.

Blessings,
ginnyrose

Re: , on: 2011/8/26 21:32

anonymous, concerning sin there are sins that are more serious than others in the eyes of God and man. Sexual sin and in particular homosexual sin is an abomination to the Lord

My point here is that it's not as cut and dry about your pharisee example you gave.

Re: - posted by mguldner (), on: 2011/8/27 3:01

Just thought I would point out that this thread was started in 2007 can so much strife be stirred on such an old thread? Are the things of the Article what has happened today four years later? Come now brothers and sisters we are all sinners who need a saviour. It's pretty easy to start an account on here and criticize those you haven't really interacted with. It would be like a man walking into your house you don't know and him complaining about how you run your house. We must show some grace to one another if we are going to make it through this persecution that IS coming.

And "Fart'yr" it is surely a lot of work you went to, to simply mock one of our brothers in Christ on a public forum, very mature of you to use 2nd grade antics with a 2nd grade joke. I pray the Lord soften your heart and save it.

Re: - posted by ArtB (), on: 2011/8/27 3:14

What is all this concern about homosexuality?

Why not pick on the heterosexual swingers, or teens who get off on porno?

Did Jesus really appoint us to be the moral police of the world?

Was the Great Commission that Jesus gave us require us to go out and tell the world which sins are abomination to the Lord and that Jesus wants them to stop committing these sins or they will end up in HELL? Is this how we were saved?

Are our sins so much smaller than their sins that makes us Christians a better and more Godly people than they? Or is it 'God in us' that makes us Holy, or are you Holy because you are not gay, or because all your works are good and all your thoughts are perfect?

I witness to gays, and never speak against their Homosexual ways, and gays have a wide range of views about being gay. Many see themselves as being Christians, and they defend their Christianity before other gays.

I encourage Christian gays, and I bring the true Gospel of Jesus Christ to non-Christian gays, that they too may have eternal life. And I listen to them and I love them.

I simply share the gospel of Jesus Christ, and the The Laws of Christ, and the Love of Christ, and allow the seeds to have a chance to take root, and if any turn to God and accept the gospel, God will take it from there and He will give them the indwelling Holy Spirit WHOM will make in them the right changes in their life and in their very nature, that they may be enabled to naturally do the good that God created them to do. It sure is not my job to change them.

Holiness is not the absence of sin in our life, Holiness is the presence of God in our Life.

Re: - posted by mguldner (), on: 2011/8/27 3:20

The only sinner that will be saved is the repentant sinner. Brother Art I am curious have the homosexual Christians you know repented of homosexuality? If not, are they saved? A radical turn to God requires a radical Turn from Sin.

But my sins are far worse, if the Lord says lusting with your eyes is a sin and I had to repent of that sin, why then is homosexuality an exception? This ofcourse being if you think they are saved yet still unrepented from homosexuality.

(disregard brother Art I misread your post my apologizes but I am still curious how you share the gospel with them) :)

Re: - posted by ArtB (), on: 2011/8/27 3:35

by mguldner on 2011/8/27 0:20:22

"The only sinner that will be saved is the repentant sinner. Brother Art I am curious have the homosexual Christians you know repented of homosexuality? If not, are they saved? A radical turn to God requires a radical Turn from Sin.

But my sins are far worse, if the Lord says lusting with your eyes is a sin and I had to repent of that sin, why then is homosexuality an exception? This ofcourse being if you think they are saved yet still unrepented from homosexuality.

(disregard brother Art I misread your post my apologizes but I am still curious how you share the gospel with them) :)"

I share the gospel to the gays as I do to everyone, even as I did here on other threads. Accepting the atoning blood of Jesus as a covering for all their sins, The Laws of Christ under the New Covenant, the receiving of the indwelling Holy Spirit whom will be their Helper to bring them to maturity in Jesus Christ. God does all the work, I just want them to enter into fellowship with God. I do not judge them, but I do love them.

Re: - posted by Enochh (), on: 2011/8/27 4:43

Art...the term "christian gays" is as ridiculous as "christian adulterer" or "christian thief". It would seem to me you peddle a cheap grace gospel which is not a gospel at all. The gospel of Jesus isleave your life, lay it down...take up your cross, repent of sin (ALL SIN) and follow me. You can't do that and continue in adultery, theft, lying, homosexuality or any other sin. Granted we all have sin we continually are "dealing" with..... the key is we are "dealing" with it and we don't sugar coat it and call it a way of life.

Re: - posted by Lysa (), on: 2011/8/27 5:03

Quote:

----- Enochh wrote to Art:

It would seem to me you peddle a cheap grace gospel which is not a gospel at all.

Are you perfect and free from all besetting sins? Give others as much time as God has given you.

God bless you,
Lisa

Re: - posted by mguldner (), on: 2011/8/27 7:55

Enoch never claimed to be perfect sis, just that for one to say I am a homosexual Christian is a complete contradiction of life. This is the real test and I believe Enoch hit it right on are you battling the Sin in your life? Someone who is homosexual and is battling it, is making an effort to turn from it and for them is grace. But to say Oh God will just accept them as they are without them leaving that old life is against the Scriptures.

If we don't identify with Christ and His Death as our own we cannot identify with Christ in his Resurrection power and cannot call ourselves children of God. Repentance is a lifestyle, of turning from Sin. I don't continue looking at pornography just because I am a Christian and God forgives, No I fight and battle it with the Help of our Lord Jesus Christ. I crucify the flesh with the help of Christ and its all Him truly but we must submit to the truth of His word, He calls Sin an abomination and He calls His children to FLEE from it and come out of it.

If a homosexual is truly repentant and fleeing this sin then they are a New Creature in Christ Jesus and wouldn't be a "homosexual Christian" but simply a Christian or perhaps a Christian who was a former homosexual or a Christian who battles it.

Remember violent men take the Kingdom of God by force, this of course is referring to our inner man. When you enter Christ Jesus and establish that relationship truly your relationship to sin changes as well.

Re: My repentance and the person who spoke of me. , on: 2011/8/27 8:46

Saints my name is Blaine Scogin not Martyr. I am sorry I took that name when I registered on Sermon Index. I should have been as some in this forum and use my real name. That is why I put either my full or first name after my post.

I repent of the post previously where I tried to be funny and little cynical. There was no call for that, I deeply apologize. There is too much cynicism and sarcasm being displayed in this forum. I have contributed to that. I will not do that any more. Therefore I deeply repent and ask your forgiveness. If I have offended anybody I humbly ask your forgiveness. From this point on I will do my best to make sure my posts are pleasing to Christ. All of what I said with the help of Jesus. Again I am deeply sorry.

To the person who spoke to me I deserved your remark and do repent. I also must ask, with the utmost of love for your soul, do you know Jesus. I sense by the spirit of your post there are some serious issues in your heart. Only the Lord can reveal those to you. I pray you will find salvation and healing in Christ. I implore you, do not, please do not let anger and bitterness rule you. They are poison of the devil. I plead with you come to the cross. Be saved by Jesus. For he will set you free to walk in his grace and love.

Posted in Jesus.

Blaine Scogin

Re: Back on track, on: 2011/8/27 13:45

To return to the original thread of this post there is a move under way to keep the church from speaking forth the truth. One poster has shown what is occurring in our neighbor to the north which supposedly is a democratic country. We are seeing both in Canada and in the U S to speak out against homosexuality or even Islam will land you a fine, jail, or both. We remember those who peacefully prayed at abortion rallies were arrested and brutally hauled off to jail. By the way this was in the U S, not a foreign country.

But saints let's cut to the chase. Let's get to the heart of the matter. Are these laws designed to muzzle the church from speaking out on issues of morality? Or are these laws designed to PREVENT US FROM DECLARING JESUS CHRIST ????????

We know in our country today it is forbidden to mention the name of Jesus Christ in the public sector. If a student mentions Jesus Christ and gives glory to that precious name that student is failed and expelled from school. If an employee mentions the name of Jesus Christ in the work place in a commendable way that person is reprimanded or fired.

Does anyone remember Tiger Woods and his fall? He was openly talking about his Buddhism background which certainly did not help his lust problem. But he kept talking how Buddhism would help him find redemption. There was a noted sports journalist. I cannot recall his name. I think it was Britt Hune. Anyway the journalist is a Christian. He came out and said Tiger could best find redemption through a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Unlike a certain Mormon who will not declare his allegiance to Christ this brother let the secular media know where he stood. The brother is or did work in secular media.

The tragedy of all this was the public was more outraged at the journalist than they were at Tiger. I mean how dare one think that salvation alone is found in Jesus.

Saints the greater danger of the hate crime laws is they muzzle us from sharing the gospel of Jesus Christ. They prevent from mentioning Jesus. Have you ever stopped to think that Jesus Christ himself could be declared a hate crime.

A short time ago, a prominent Christian ministry dropped the name of Christ out of its name. It's so shameful that it grieves me to mention its new name. Then there is Mussie Eyob. Who is he? He is a young brother from Eritrea who was arrested for proclaiming Jesus Christ. In front of a Moslem mosque in SAUDIE ARABIA. No doubt this brother will be executed for his courage.

Saints as evil encroaches upon our land and more restrictive laws are passed to prohibit us from preaching Christ where will we draw our courage from? Will it be from people like Richard Wormbrand, Asia Bibi, Corrie Ten Boon, Britt Hune, or Mussie Eyob or an unnamed ministry that had not the courage to keep Christ in its title. You be the judge. God grant that we all be men and women of courage in these dark times.

Posted by Blaine Scogin

Re: - posted by Lysa (), on: 2011/8/27 15:33

Matthew, I love ya brother. I agree and see exactly what you wrote but we (Christians) live in a "Christian bubble" if I may say so humbly.

Quote:

----- Are you perfect and free from all besetting sins? Give others as much time as God has given you.

I still stand by my original question, it wasn't just to Enochh - it was for everyone including me. We need to trust God and give others AS MUCH TIME as God has given us; is God finished with you yet? He's not with me either! So perhaps He is not finished with homosexuals yet either.

We start these threads and wind up in every one of them saying in round about ways that our sinful struggles (sexual sin

s) are not the same as "the homosexuals." Therefore "ours" are a much cleaner sin than theirs is and brother, that is plain and simple pride on our part.

And all I'm trying to say is that upon reading the average Christian's responses in these threads, no wonder homosexuals won't venture into our churches to be set free; no wonder they've created a whole community unto themselves.

I've said my peace and brother I meant no harm to you, I hope none was taken. I won't post again in this thread, so carry on!!!

God bless you,
Lisa

Re: - posted by mguldner (), on: 2011/8/28 1:09

Ah Sister you know I love you too. And I definitely see where you are coming from, in my struggle against lust I had to come to a place of humility in this area. I had to answer the question Is my sin the same or not? I know you see my point and I am thankful. Something that helped me even come to the truth was being confronted with it, I don't see an equal balance in the "realm of homosexuals" meaning there are some that are like the Westboro baptist church that are just hatemongers and this is one extreme and then there are those that say their lifestyle is okay and they don't need to change a thing because they'll go to heaven either way, they can even be preachers.

There has to be an equal balance of loving them and showing them compassion while at the same time confronting the sin with the truth of the Word of God. Christ Jesus came to free us from sin, not provide grace so we can wallow in it. I am far from perfect that is for sure and as you put it the Lord isn't done with me.

Re: A reply to those whose sins are far smaller than mine. - posted by ArtB (), on: 2011/8/28 22:29

I had forgotten about this thread till today, then it took awhile to find it.

I have read all the replies and I am not impressed by any of the responses except for those of Lysa, who has the heart of Christ.

I recall Jesus handling of the adulterous woman. Jesus knew she committed adultery, so did her accusers who brought her to Jesus in order to discredit Him. Jesus had compassion for her even though she was an adulteress.

Jn 8:1-11

But Jesus went to the Mount of Olives. Early in the morning He came again into the temple, and all the people were coming to Him; and He sat down and began to teach them. The scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman caught in adultery, and having set her in the center of the court, they said to Him, "Teacher, this woman has been caught in adultery, in the very act. Now in the Law Moses commanded us to stone such women; what then do You say?" They were saying this, testing Him, so that they might have grounds for accusing Him. But Jesus stooped down and with His finger wrote on the ground. But when they persisted in asking Him, He straightened up, and said to them, "He who is without sin among you, let him be the first to throw a stone at her." AGAIN HE STOOPED DOWN AND WROTE ON THE GROUND. When they heard it, they began to go out one by one, beginning with the older ones, and He was left alone, and the woman, where she was, in the center of the court. Straightening up, Jesus said to her, "Woman, where are they? Did no one condemn you?" She said, "No one, Lord." And Jesus said, "I do not condemn you, either. Go. From now on sin no more." NASU

What happened here? These men knew she was an adulterous, She knew she was an adulterous, Jesus knew she was an adulterous. These accusers left while Jesus was writing in the dirt. All knew THE LAW required her death by stoning, then they had to hang her body on a tree for all to see what becomes of adulterers.

Each saw what Jesus was writing and they understood. I am convinced Jesus provided each of the accusers with a reminder of a sin they were guilty of, punishable by the Mosaic Law. And understanding their own dilemma, each walked away. Jesus had mercy on the woman, He merely told her to not sin. Jesus, knowing she did commit adultery yet He did not violate the Mosaic Covenant, because the Mosaic Law requires two witnesses to convict, and all the other witnesses of the crime had walked away.

But we live under a different Covenant, whereby we do not save ourselves, but God has saved us through the blood covering of Jesus blood, shed on the cross, by the one sacrifice of the only PERFECT LAMB OF GOD, JESUS!

I accept the word of the homosexual that he/she is a Christian if they are truly under the BLOOD of Jesus Christ after accepting Jesus died for their sins and His blood covers all their sins, whatever they be. I believe God will work in them until the day of Christ, and God will accomplish His will in them.

However, if you say such a one can not possibly be a saved Christian because of his sin - homosexuality, then by what standard of measure you measure them, so shall it be measured unto, and when you step on that scale of Christian virtue you built for yourselves, you yourselves will be judged accordingly.

As for me, I will be their friend and not condemn them, and will encourage them to set their eyes on Jesus, and pray that God has mercy on them, for God to work in their life to transform them to do the good that He created them to do.

For I too believe in Jesus and accepted Jesus atoning blood shed on the cross - washing away all my sins for all time, and I have the indwelling Holy Spirit (God-In-Me), and I know God will accomplish in me what He said He would, and my salvation does not at all depend on others sinners who say they are Christians but label me unsaved because their continual sinning or habitual sins are not near as bad as mine are.

Here is God's Gift to us, a gift that we can not earn with our own righteousness.

Jn 11:21-26

21 Martha then said to Jesus, " Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died. Even now I know that whatever You ask of God, God will give You."

Jesus said to her, "Your brother will rise again."

Martha said to Him, " I know that he will rise again in the resurrection on the last day."

Jesus said to her, " I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me will live even if he dies, and everyone who lives and believes in Me will never die. Do you believe this?" NASU

I do believe this.

ArtB

Re: , on: 2011/8/29 8:45

Would you consider a serial killer a Christian, if they still killed every now and then? Especially if they didn't see any problem with the occasional murder?

How about a Christian pedophile? We shouldn't say anything about that right?

I'm not saying someone who struggles with the temptation of these, but someone who still does them and doesn't seem to see a problem with them.

Remember that in the long list of those who would not inherit the kingdom of heaven Paul said, such WERE some of you, not such are.

Not that any of us were any better before Christ got a hold of us, but I shudder to think I could still call myself by the name of the sin that ensnared me before God let me have a new name.

Oh yes, love the homosexual. Love them so much that you're not scared to tell them that their lifestyle has consequences not only in this life, but in the life to come, and that their only option IS to "Go and SIN NO MORE," no matter how unpopular it makes you.

Re: - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2011/8/29 9:04

Ever consider what heaven would be like if it were populated with unrepentant sinners? You'd have a mess just like what we have now and, I, for one, am looking forward to escape it. Unless people learn obedience now, they will not practice it in heaven, either. But then they will never get there so a person does not have to worry about that.

How do I know this? Scripture informs us in Galatians 5:19-21: NASB

19 Now the deeds of the flesh are evident, which are: immorality, impurity, sensuality,

20 idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousy, outbursts of anger, disputes, dissensions, factions,

21 envying, drunkenness, carousing, and things like these, of which I forewarn you, just as I have forewarned you, that those who practice such things will not inherit the kingdom of God

God will not allow unrepentant sinners into his Glory. The best a body can do is to inform a person of these realities, not encourage them to remain in their sin. Actually, this is a no-brainer.

Re: , on: 2011/8/29 9:23

Spot on Ginnyrose.

Re: - posted by ArtB (), on: 2011/8/30 3:01

"by EverestoSama on 2011/8/29 5:45:25 wrote:

No, I would not make their homosexuality an issue. I want them to know who Jesus is, what He did for them should they accept His atoning blood covering that takes away all their sins. And then they will receive the Holy Spirit, and God will cleanse them from all unrighteousness, and love them.

Everest Sama. Your response to my prior post appeals to Sophistical Defenses. Sophistical Defenses are dodges or devices which are employed to protect a claim from objections.

The device that you are using is called a red herring. You introduced a serial killer, as well as pedophilia, into this conversation, that's two Red Herrings that you somehow think are equivalent to two adult men having sex in their privacy. It is not. Thus you have changed the topic to something totally different, in the hope that equating homosexuality to being a Serial killer, or to acts of Pedophilia. Shame on you for such an unethical reply, accusing me of giving Serial Killers and those who sexually abuse minors, a free pass.

And let me make it perfectly clear to you - EverestoSama, I would, If I could, share the gospel to a serial Killer, or to one who engaged in pedophilia, but unlike the Homosexuals I have been sharing the gospel with, I would witness to these felons in jail.

David Berkowitz was such a one, a murderer, but someone loved him and shared the gospel to David, and today he is a Christian, transformed into a new person through the workings of the indwelling Spirit.

And he is happy to stay in jail so he can continue to witness Jesus Christ to other prisoners who have also committed terrible crimes.

And I will forgive others of their sins just as God forgives mine.

As Billy Graham often said in his evangelical crusades,

COME AS YOU ARE, NOW IS THE TIME.

Re: , on: 2011/9/1 0:09

So what I assume then is that some sin isn't as bad as other sin, and doesn't need turning from or confronting as much as other sins yeah?

God accepts sin that falls within a certain category of cultural acceptability, correct?

And you can continue to give out your "shame on you's" as much as you please. You will not find your positioning backed by Scripture. I just chose the extremes, and your response only validates my point rather than denies it. I can throw out an unrepentant liar, thief, adulterer, whatever into the list, it doesn't matter. Sin is sin. I mean if you want to get even further into it, Paul states that sexual immorality is even more serious than other sins, as it sins against one's own body.

And why not make homosexuality an issue with the homosexual? Jesus cut straight to the case with the woman at the well. He didn't beat around the bush. When I was living in sin, I turned when my sin was put in front of my eyes in light of God's Holiness, and the Holy Spirit worked conviction in my life. Without repentance there is no indwelling. I mean, I wouldn't hark on it, and constantly point my finger at their sin, we've all sinned, but they need to be made aware of it.

As mentioned in another thread 1 John 3:9: (NASB)

No one who is born of God practices sin, because His seed abides in him; and he cannot sin, because he is born of God .

The word for sin here in Greek is used in the present continuous active form, meaning a lifestyle of sin. One is not of Christ and of a worldly form of sin.

A Christian homosexual, thief, pedophile, murderer, liar, slanderer, gossip, etc. I think not. Neither does the Scripture. Such were some of us, and of the many liberties weren't given in Christ, staying as such is not one of them.

Come as you are, yes. Stay as you are? Most definitely not.

I would advise quoting some Scripture, not some Billy Graham in the future.

Re: - posted by ArtB (), on: 2011/9/1 1:08

I just read your post right above, EverestoSama.

Did you know that before the Mosaic Law was given, homosexuality was legal?

Should I assume that when you became a Christian, that you stopped sinning before you accepted Jesus Christ and have been sinless ever since. Or do you just feel that your sins are not as bad as theirs, being more acceptable to God than theirs are.

Here is another verse from the letter of John, 1 John 1

1 Jn 1:5-10

This is the message we have heard from Him and announce to you, that God is Light, and in Him there is no darkness at all. If we say that we have fellowship with Him and yet walk in the darkness, we lie and do not practice the truth; but if we walk in the Light as He Himself is in the Light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus His Son cleanses us from all sin. If we say that we have no sin, we are deceiving ourselves and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. IF WE SAY THAT WE HAVE NOT SINNED, WE MAKE HIM A LIAR AND HIS WORD IS NOT IN US. NASU

From that last sentence I put in caps, I know you and I are sinners.

And that scripture is clear, as you measure others, so it will be measured unto you, you will be judged as you judged others.

ers. If we show mercy, God will show us mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgement. This is one of the Laws of the New Covenant, the Law of Liberty.

In my view, you are blocking them from God with demands that God did not put on you. Demands that you can not keep yourself, unless you really are sinless.

Let them accept Jesus as their Lord and savior, and let us have faith in God to do in them what He said He would do, transform their very nature. It's not our place to judge and condemn them, since we are saved despite our ongoing sins, solely through the atoning blood of Jesus, and certainly not because we are sinless.

Re: , on: 2011/9/1 2:07

Quote: Did you know that before the Mosaic Law was given, homosexuality was legal?

So was murder, rape, theft, adultery, fornication, lying, pedophilia, and any other sin you can think of if you want to refer to it as "legal". The only thing that was commanded to abstain from so far was eating the fruit of the tree. Still, it didn't stop God from destroying the world once for its wickedness.

What wickedness? There were no laws in place... were there?

No one is advocating that we haven't sinned. That's for sure. Everyone has sinned. You're right, it's not our place to judge and condemn them. It's the Word of God's place, which it has no problem doing. Jesus commanded that a Gospel of Repentance be preached, not a gospel of, "just keep living in the sin that enslaves you".

I don't think anyone here is saying that you won't sin. We're saying you can't live in sin and say it's OK. Especially when the Bible says that it isn't.

You can continue to respond, but I'll leave further responses to others. I've said pretty much all I can think of. Like Ginny Rose said, I've always viewed it as sort of a no-brainer.

Re: - posted by mguldner (), on: 2011/9/1 8:39

Well said Everestosama,

But if homosexuality was "legal" then God would have unjustly killed those of Sodom and Gomorrah. We are all so indebted to God it's not even funny.

Our only hope is Christ Jesus, who said loud and clear Repent, and any man that doesn't take up his cross CAN'T be my disciple. We are called to death, this includes our sins and our old man, our ambitions, our dreams, our righteousness. And anything and everything is Christ, was Christ sexually immoral and was He in support of it? No.

I stand on this ground, I had to give up my sins when I came to Christ, this being my desire to sin against God without repercussions of that sin. I can't sin now ignorantly thinking "it's all peaches and cream with God because He is graceful." No Paul tells us in Romans over and over again, so because Grace increases does this mean we should sin all the more so grace would increase? BY NO MEANS!

The fact is ANY man that submits his body willfully to sin is a slave to that sin. Christ's call is one to Freedom FROM Sin. Matthew 1:21 states that, "21 She will give birth to a son, and you are to give him the name Jesus, because he will save his people from their sins."Â

What a wonderful Salvation! I no longer have to be a lustful, adulterer, lying, murdering, theiving, hypocritical person but through Christ I can seek death to all of these on the Cross and become a Slave to Righteousness as Paul exhorts in Romans 6.

Is it right to judge these individuals? No Is it right to withhold what the bible says about their lifestyle so we don't offend them?

hem? No. We must speak the truth in LOVE and Compassion. And this means speaking all of the truth no matter how ugly.

Re: - posted by ginnyrose (), on: 2011/9/1 9:14

What was 'legal' before the Mosaic law was given can only be assumed by careful study of the WORD. Nowhere do we find that God has set forth a law detailing what kind of behaviors was acceptable. However, this does not mean it did not exist, it just means the Scriptures does not share this information.

(I wish someone else would do this but since no one else will, here goes...)

Adam and Eve were absolutely perfect. They had perfect knowledge based on their relationship with God. They were ignorant of one thing and that is what would happen if and when man disobeys God. Armed with this sense one can assume they had a sense of rightness that was passed on to succeeding generations.

Consider Cain: there was no law that said "thou shalt not kill", yet God held him accountable. Apparently he knew what sin was. Where did this sense of wrongness/sin come from? Genesis 4:7 God tells Cain "sin lieth at the door." After he killed Abel Cain was very defensive...an innocent man is not defensive.

Fast forward to Genesis 6:3: God says "my spirit shall not always strive with man." Verse 5: "Then the LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great on the earth, and that every intent of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually." NASB

How did God teach these people? It mentions Spirit. Oh...OH!

Genesis 6:9: "Noah walked with God." In 2 Peter 2:5 Noah is described as a "preacher of righteousness." How did Noah know what is righteous? The Spirit of God?

Fast forward some more to Abraham: Remember when Pharaoh took Sarai but God intervened? Notice Pharaoh's reaction to Abraham's deception? How did he know?

Or, what about Lot when he told the Sodomites they were acting wickedly when they asked for his visitors (males, assumed such by the Sodomites) in order to have sex with them? Gen. 19:5-7.

How did Joseph know it was wrong for him to lie with his master's wife?

Why were Jacob's sons outraged when they learned that their sister Dinah was taken advantage of by Shechem? Gen. 34. What fueled this outrage?

On and on.

My point: Scriptures prove the people knew what was right and wrong before God gave the law to Moses on Mt. Sinai. They were not free to sin without repercussions before this event.

Sin is sin. God put that knowledge within the mind of man and when man spurns this knowledge he will give him/her over to a reprobate mind - one who has no conscience of right and wrong. Moderns sometimes call these people sociopaths.

Let us never be guilty of not challenging sin when we see it. Ever noticed the many times when Jesus healed people he told them "to go and sin no more"? This message has not changed any, has it?

Re: , on: 2011/9/1 10:01

Great posts Mathew and Ginnyrose, you adequately summed it up in the words I couldn't seem to find. Thanks!

Re: - posted by istina, on: 2011/9/7 15:31

The depth of sin is much bigger than we understand, we often on the surface with this subject. Is this not sin to eat plenty when the other person starves? We count sin as something personal, but it is also corporate, we work for the world that hates God, giving it our energy and talents and receive a pay from it. We are sold to sin and we need to be redeemed and we need to follow the Savior so God would not hold us accountable for taking part in the common craziness.

And the biggest proof of it is a political decision of our government who we vote for but who go against God. So only Jesus will do and also we must gather with Him and constantly invest in His Kingdom turning everything for the good of His Kingdom.