He had a bad sugar crash this morning. He has diabetes and his sugar level is supposed to be around 100 to 180, but this morning when he woke up it was 38. He gets groggy and it takes a real toll on his body.

Please pray that he'll recover well and that we can get his sugar levels stabilized.

Thanks, Saints!

Jordan, just finding this. Praying and please let us know how your Dad is.

Did he need to go to Hospital or did he eat or drink something to get it back up ?

Lord have mercy on you all - and I pray his sugar becomes a controllable issue now.

Hi everyone,

My dad is doing much better. He's back to normal, but he and I didn't go to church with the rest of the family. :(He didn't have to go to the hospital because he was able to drink some OJ and eat some toast.

Thanks for praying!
