Quotable Quotes...

Chip Brogden

"A defeated Christian is a contradiction: it is not your destiny. Rise up and live according to the truth: that Victory is a Man, and He lives inside of you, and the One Who lives within you is greater than whatever comes against you."

William MacDonald

"The worship meetings are often dead. Dull, awkward pauses are the fruit of prolonged occupation with the never-never I and of TV."

Leonard Ravenhill

"Finney preached and sometimes the whole congregation would get up and leave! that's good preaching."

Martyn Lloyd-Jones

"I would say that a 'dull preacher' is a contradiction in terms; if he is dull he is not a preacher. He may stand in a pulpit and talk, but he is certainly not a preacher."

C.H. Spurgeon

"Preach not calmly and quietly as though you were asleep, but preach with fire and pathos and passion."

bump.

I hope this issue is working for everyone. I will be announcing it officially in the next newsletter also. I will also try and work on back issues to get more good materials into the hands of the saints.

"Revival is a time of personal humiliation ...

Bill Bright

"Strong minds suffer without complaining; weak minds complain without suffering."

Charles E. Cowman

“A truly humble man is sensible of his natural distance from God; of his dependence on Him.”

Jonathan Edwards

“MEN ARE COMMONLY more zealous to support their own authority than God’s.” -

Matthew Henry

“We are suffering a famine of the Word of God. The ministry lacks unction. Too often it is a rehash of the obvious. How seldom in meetings are we conscious that the Spirit of God has spoken to us in power? We live on a diet of pabulum. And don’t put all the blame on the preachers!”

William MacDonald

How may men avoid this deadly, secret, subtle sin? There is but one way; that is, by following Jesus in daily, resolute self-denial, by watchfulness and prayer, by 'walking in the light as He is in the light,' by openness of heart, by humility of mind, by utter surrender to the Holy Ghost. by counting all things loss for Christ, as did Paul; by learning and not forgetting that 'godliness, with contentment, is great gain,' by seeking first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, by joyfully trusting and obeying those words of Peter, 'casting all your care upon Him, for He careth for you,' by keeping the heart clean.

Samuel Logan Brengle

Pascal was bitterly criticized because apart from the immortal soul of man, he could see no scenery anywhere worth looking at. By the same token, the Apostle Paul might be castigated for saying not a word about Grecian art or the splendor of the Pantheon. His was a separation to spirituality. After the Athenian clash on Mars’ Hill, Paul poured contempt on the wisdom of this world, dying daily to the temptation to outwit and out-think the wise. His task was not that of getting over a viewpoint, but of overcoming the legions of hell!

Leonard Ravenhill

And where is the Church? For the most part, it is asleep. Polluted with the desires and materialism of the world, she knows little about spiritual discipline and living the Spirit-filled life.

Bill Bright

Hey Greg, may I strongly recommend that you look into the sermons of a man named Sam Porter Jones. I think the readers of The Old Path would benefit from his earnest cries for true religion.

He was a fellow worker with DL Moody in their generation, as DL Moody preached to the masses in the industrial North, Sam Jones preached against hypocrisy in the bible belt in the South. The words of Sam Jones seem more appropriate for this hour than they did then.
