

Miracles that follow the plow :: asking prayer for family - having nightmares

asking prayer for family - having nightmares - posted by sonofadam777 (), on: 2008/2/5 13:42

I am asking prayer for my family... we have seven children and my wife and children have been having nightmares in the ir sleep almost daily. I have started praying, but asking the saints to join me in prayer for my family. thanks. ~ Doug

Re: asking prayer for family - having nightmares - posted by ccchhrrriiss (), on: 2008/2/5 13:50

Praying.

Re: - posted by Miccah (), on: 2008/2/5 14:18

Brother,

I will be praying for His will to be done and revealed.

What I have noticed about dreams is a bit two fold. Sometimes they are just bad dreams, but other times they are from t he Lord. Remember that the Lord said that "...your younger men will see visions, your older men will dream dreams..."

What I find sometimes is that dreams that tend to look as nightmares, actually is the Lord revealing Himself, ideas, mess age, etc... to me. There is always a learning and meaning behind these dreams.

As hard as it may sound, rejoice in this time when the Spirit is outpouring Himself to your family. Pray for discernment, r evelation and of course, protection from deception on things not from the Lord.

The Lord may be trying to say something to you and your family. Will you listen...

Grace upon grace for your family.

Re: - posted by nowhr2hide (), on: 2008/2/5 18:57

Hi,

i will be praying for your children and your family, have you talk to your children what's is about with this dreams they having?, children are more open in spiritual state of families, but they don't understand it and know to actually point it out of this things, or some times it is like a bad dreams, because they had a big day.

Quote:

What I find sometimes is that dreams that tend to look as nightmares, actually is the Lord revealing Himself, ideas, message, etc... to me. There is alw ays a learning and meaning behind these dreams.

As hard as it may sound, rejoice in this time when the Spirit is outpouring Himself to your family. Pray for discernment, revelation and of course, protect ion from deception on things not from the Lord.

Quote:

encourage your children to share to you about the dreams and pray to God gives you an understanding for it, and will reveal to you the spiritual warfar e somehow ... but i may be wrong.

Will keep you in prayer and ask for protection from God.

Re: asking prayer for family - having nightmares - posted by tjservant (), on: 2008/2/5 19:57

I will pray.

Miracles that follow the plow :: asking prayer for family - having nightmares

Re: - posted by SimpleLiving (), on: 2008/2/5 20:40

I will pray, too. This must be very difficult for a parent to go through. It can't be easy for you or your wife, either. You will all be lifted before the Father and bathed in prayer, brother.