Good devotions, on: 2008/2/15 21:33

Can anyone recommend a good daily devotion for my wife and I to read together. We had been using the Charles Spurgeon one that comes with ESWORD, but we are looking for something else. Not that there is anything I find wrong with it, its just a personal thing.

Personally, I enjoyed reading through Oswald Chambers' My Utmost for His Highest, but I'm sure you've already thought of that one.

It will be interesting to see what others recommend.

Streams in the Desert by L.B. Cowman

and

Morning and Evening by Charles H. Spurgeon

My favorite is

My Utmost for His Highest by Oswald Chambers

Thats two for Oswald!

I have read it more than once...it still causes me to pause and really think.

Hello brother Jim, besides what the other brethren recommended I want turn you attention to this:

(<http://www.gracegems.org/Brooks/Mute%20Christian%20QUOTES.html>) The Mute Christian Under the Smarting Rod

(http://www.gracegems.org/Winslows/Christ_sympathy.htm) CHRIST'S SYMPATHY TO WEARY PILGRIMS

Brother, I cannot recommended enough these two readings, for a pilgrim on the narrow way. What a comfort and focus in going to heaven and Christ.

Not a devotional per se but I enjoy reading J.C. Ryle's Thoughts on the Gospels as a devotional. He takes a short section of scripture and it reads like a devotional. Often quite moving.

In His service,
Steve

I personally love "The Valley of Vision" it is a collection of Puritan prayers and devotions, it brings back to your mind the fact that you are totally undeserving of God's Love and Grace and yet He has still given it to you, there are also a weeks worth of prayers at the back of the book.

My Utmost For His Highest (yes, it's a good one!)

Still Higher For His Highest

Both by Oswald Chambers

The Secret Series by Andrew Murray

Extreme Devotion by the Voice of the Martyrs (currently reading this one and have been very blessed and challenged by it.)
