I'd ask that you guys pray for the Enochville Church of God in Kannapolis, NC. A close friend of mine says that the church is experiencing revival. I am going to attempt to go the next several nights starting tomorrow night and investigate about the matter. Be in earnest prayer about it though, hopefully it is the real thing. Especially with this church having struggled greatly in the last few years.

It is said the last few nights, there have been about 12 people saved and 8 baptized in the Spirit. While this might not meet "revival" as in the definition of some, it sure sounds like God is doing something.
