The God who created us, formed us, and made us takes a personal interest in who we are and what we are becoming. He did not leave us without hope, or without meaning and purpose in life.

The question is: Are we humble enough to examine ourselves in the light of truth; to see ourselves in the mirror that reveals us?? Are we honest enough to ask God to know our ways; to search our hearts as David did??

Then: Are we willing enough to allow Him to change us, to renew us, to transform our lives??

Are we brave enough to deny ourselves, to suffer the loss of all things; to serve the cause of the cross and His kingdom ??
