

General Topics :: Rhema Bible Training Center*Rhema Bible Training Center - posted by Alf (), on: 2008/6/9 10:04

I was wondering has anyone here gone to RBTC? or even have any comments on the institution?

Re: Rhema Bible Training Center - posted by sojourner7 (), on: 2008/6/9 10:15

Rhema Bible Training Center was started by Kenneth Hagin and Kenneth Copeland and is part of the "name it and claim it" school of faith. They teach covenant theology {that God has covenanted with us to bless and prosper us} I would not recommend this doctrine to anyone!!

Re: - posted by Alf (), on: 2008/6/9 10:34

ah, ok fair enough. anyone else have something to say on the subject ?

Re: - posted by Thommy2 (), on: 2008/6/9 10:46

I would not recommend that school to anyone either. I think you should run away from false teaching, false prophets, and a school that will teach you to command God. If it's false teaching you want then go, but if it's God's plan RUN RUN RUN from the WOF.

Re: Rhema Bible Training Center - posted by InTheLight (), on: 2008/6/9 11:59

Here's a testimony of someone who attended...

(<http://www.freewebs.com/robbino/faithfree.htm>) RBTC testimony of Jeff Beard

In Christ,

Ron

Re: - posted by Alf (), on: 2008/6/9 12:19

Great article very informative. May the Lord bless you all for your help.

In Christ

Re: - posted by KindGottes (), on: 2008/6/10 23:19

They also have classes on how to speak in tongues.

Re:, on: 2008/6/11 7:48

If you're interested in being trained in the false demonic doctrines of Word of Faith... there is no better place to go.

Krispy

Re: - posted by Alf (), on: 2008/6/11 9:33

haha u guys really dont like this place uh? cant blame ya ;)

I wish i was free to discuss my reason on bringing this up but i cant for now :), i have picked up on alot of this and well th e Lord is my guide 100% on this one so we shall see.